"A teacher affects eternity; he can never tell where his influence stops."

Henry Adams

Mrs. Margaret Meyer

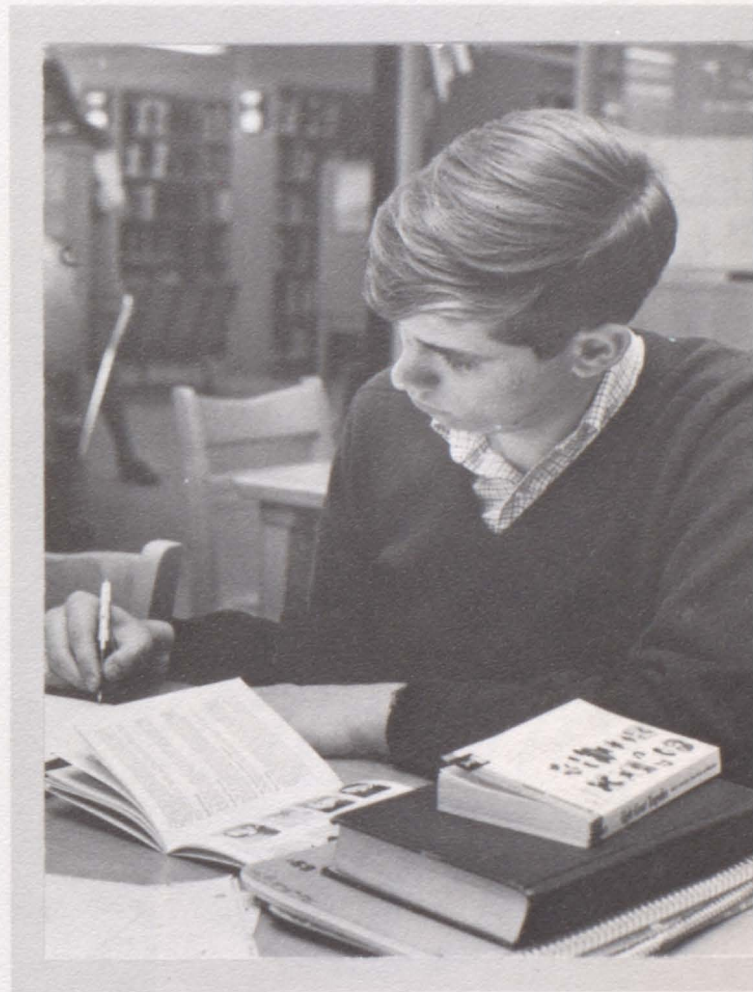

On March 10, Mrs. Margaret Meyer, a dedicated member of our school faculty, passed away. Mrs. Meyer had devoted nearly thirty years to encouraging scholastic achievement. During the past twelve years as an instructor in Rochester, Mrs. Meyer had taught Latin, English, French, and journalism at Central Junior High, and Rochester High School. She had been the faculty advisor of The Talon for several years. She will always be remembered by everyone who knew her as a devoted wife, mother, and teacher. R.H.S. will deeply miss the presence of Mrs. Meyer in the school family.

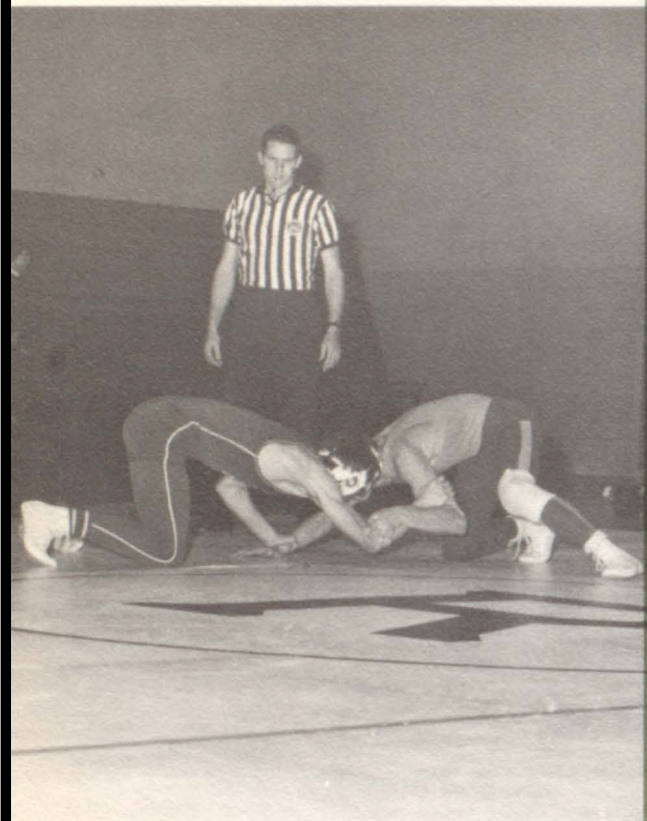

Leaving Rochester to study for a doctorate is Superintendent of Schools, Douglas B. Lund. Mr. Lund first came to Rochester in 1950 when he started teaching at Avon School. In 1951, he became teacher-principal of Avon School. 1952 was the year that he became principal of Harrison Elementary. In 1953, Mr. Lund was the Elementary

Coordinator, and in 1956 was appointed Director of Elementary Education. In 1959, Mr. Lund's title was Director of Instruction. Mr. Lund became Assistant Superintendent in Charge of Instruction in 1961. In 1966, he succeeded to the post which he now assumes. RHS joins in wishing Mr. Lund the best of luck in the future.

Making the Wheels Of the School Turn

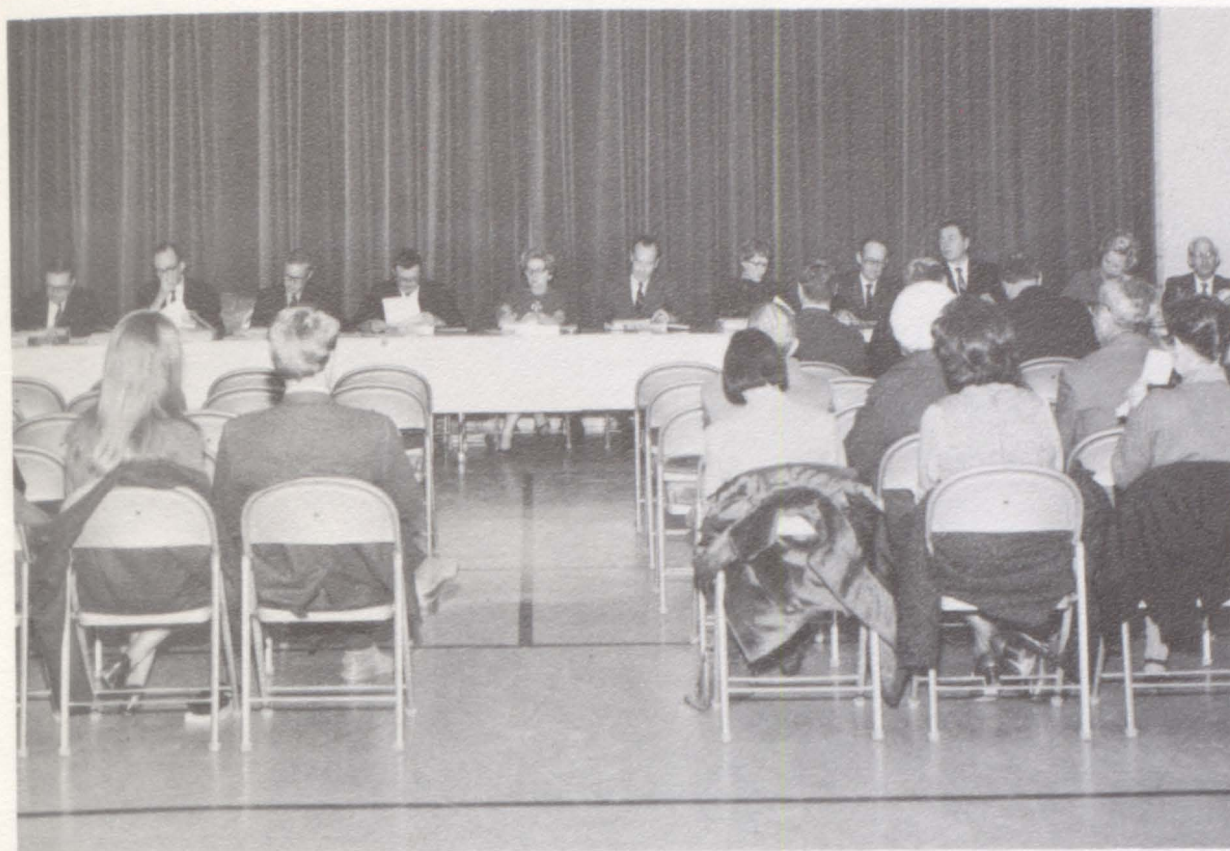

Various decisions, from purchasing pencil sharpeners to hiring teachers, pass through the hands of the Rochester Schools Administration.

The Administration of RHS, fortunate to have Mr. Drue as principal, added two members to its staff — former RHS counselor Mr. Case and Mr. Esko, a newcomer to RHS.

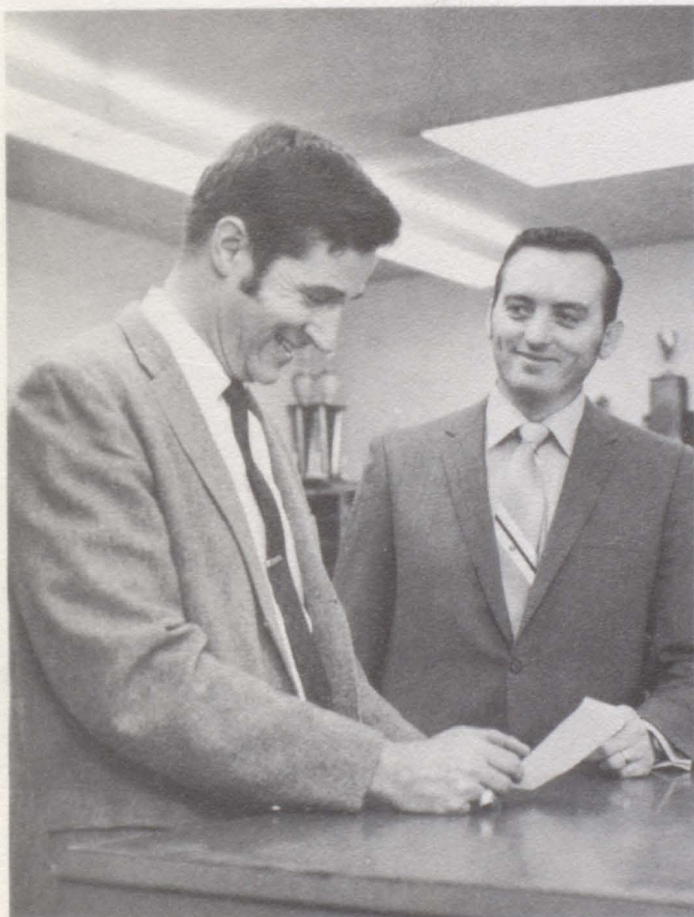

The Board of Education improves the curriculum offered at the Rochester Community Schools. They also hold public meetings to inform the public about “what’s what” in the school system. The Administration Board puts its stamp of approval on programs in which the students participate and forms the organization that “makes our schools tick.”

Meetings of the Board of Education are always open to the public.

Behind Every Great Idea Is a Counselor

Do you have a problem? Don't write to Dear Abby — go and see your friendly RHS counselor. No problem is too large or too minute for our staff of counselors, composed of Miss Ribbink, Mr. Dennis, Mrs. Mittelstadt, Mr. Murray, and Mr. Clute. The staff aids students with schedule changes, college choices, personal problems, and ever-increasing computer errors. Counselors lend a listening ear to all that come to them for help. Aiding the counselors with much valuable assistance are Mrs. Baker and Mrs. Henson who know the grade-point averages and assist in keeping our records in tact.

Looking over a new student's transcript are (sitting) Miss Ribbink, Mrs. Mittelstadt, (standing) Mr. Dennis, Mr. Murray, Mr. Clute.

When You Enter the Office, 'Smile Please'

The monotony of every class is always interrupted by those cheerful kids that take the missing student's card and bring the green and yellow absentee sheets. These busy students are a part of the office helpers – the voluntary group of students working in the main office, the book store, and the attendance office.

At the book store, the helpers run-off dittos and sell books, locks, ID cards and shop cards. The attendance office helpers pick up attendance cards, run passes, and do other errands. The main office helpers type and sometimes operate the switchboard. Yes, their work goes unnoticed, but their deeds are not without valor!

Operating the attendance office efficiently calls for experienced help. Mrs. Ryberg and Mrs. Moore check the absentee list.

Everyone should appreciate those people who keep RHS going: the cooks and the custodians. Without their valuable services, RHS could not function.

Starving students and teachers alike take advantage of the cooks' advice that minds work better on a full stomach. Custodians handle the cafeteria crisis after the students depart. Faithfully eradicating scattered papers and remnants of a hard week, the custodians still surprise us with a couple of jokes.

'Quiet Please!'

Ready to assist any willing student are librarians Mrs. Golob, Mrs. Adkinson, and Miss Redman.

The Rochester High School librarians had a double load this year, trying to satisfy the needs of two schools. But thanks to some new equipment, particularly a new 3M copying machine, and the undaunted ingenuity of Miss Redman and Mrs. Golob, our library seems to be surviving.

Our library now contains over 16,000 books on almost every subject imaginable. Whether your interest is in biology, nineteenth century literature, football, or politics, the library can offer you extensive and intensive material.

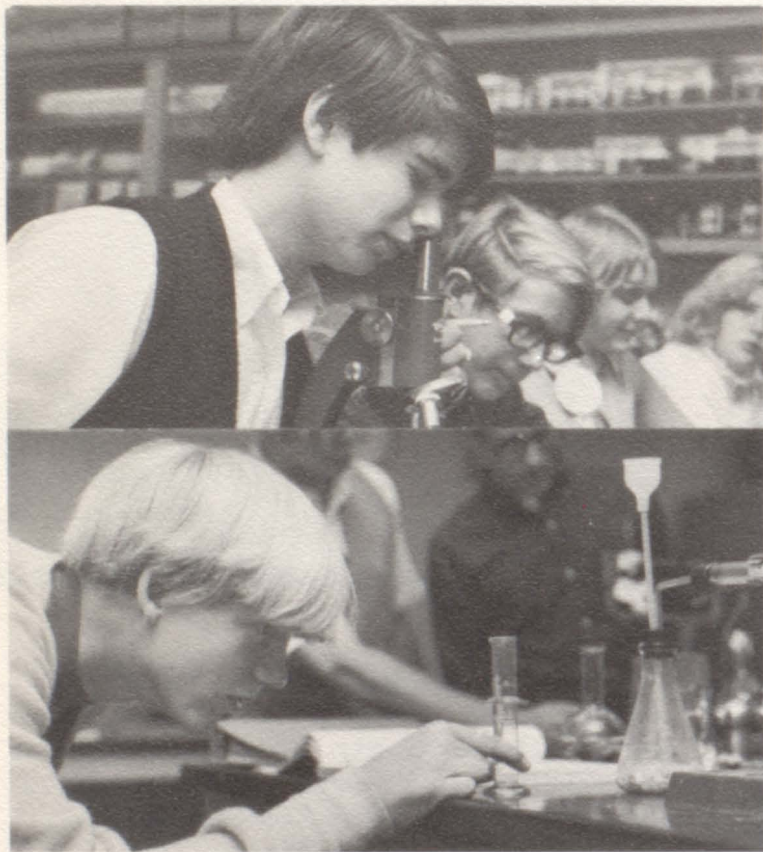

Atoms To Arrange - World To Discover

From the newly added introduction to physical science course to the realm of physics, the science student is forever learning new concepts.

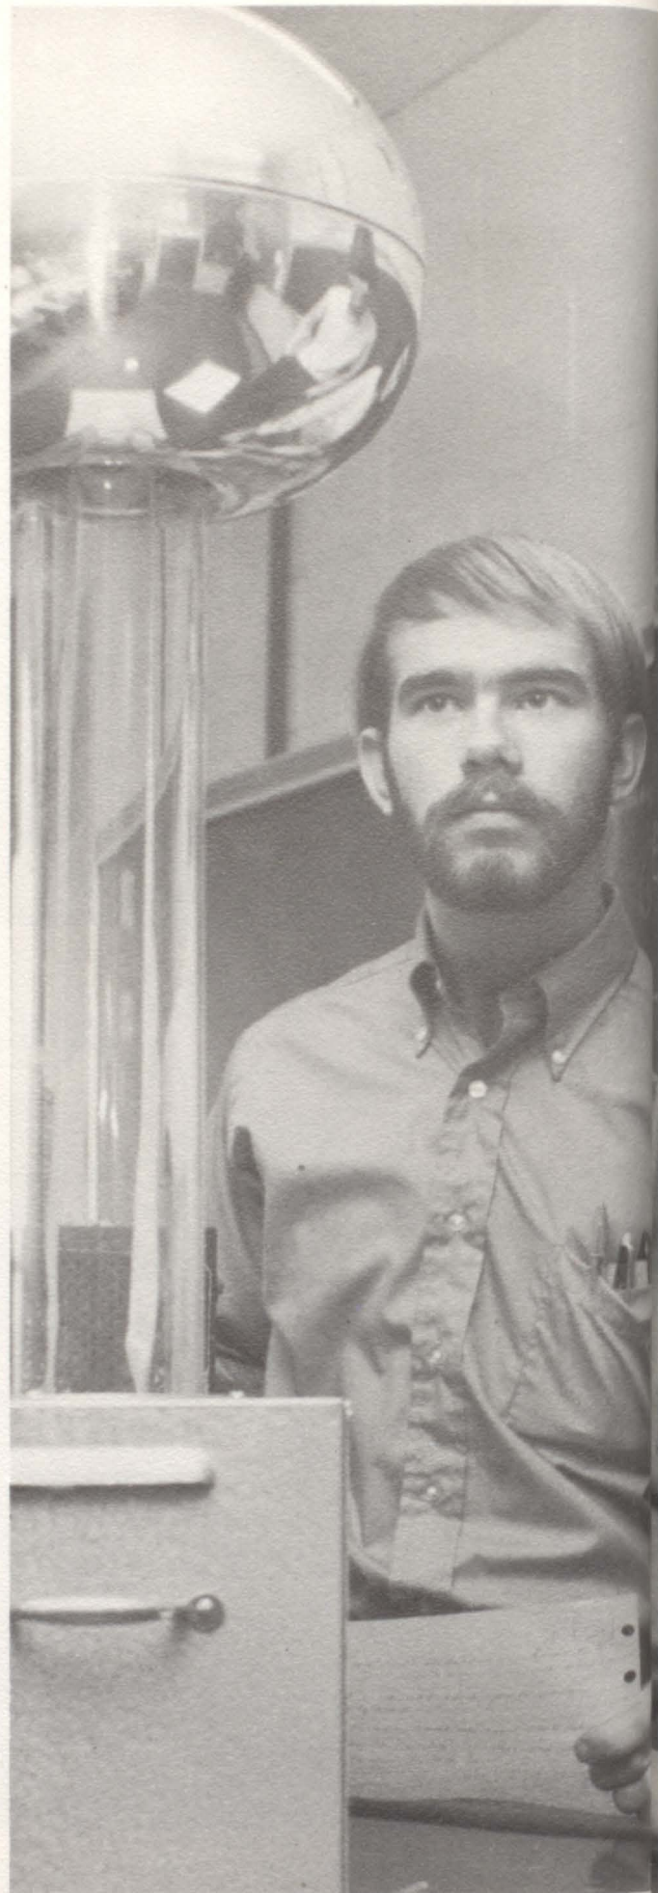

The I.P.S. program is a class where the students grasp new theories through experimentation. They discover facts about the results of combining chemicals to the effects of radioactivity.

All of the students in the biology classes perform major surgery on frogs and learn about their own blood types. The students progress to physiology, investigating the functions of the human body.

The chemistry students discover matter and its different forms. Physics enables students to look into new theories.

Mr. Lawson projects a prime piece of evidence onto the screen.

Fraggs and Misspellings Maketh English Tough

Mr. Miller asks, "Did you really expect a 'C'?"

The main objective of the English Department, as outlined by Mr. Lawson, is "the development of communication skills with an aim toward critical thinking." For three years, students at Rochester High are introduced to ideas and devices which enable them to acquire some of these skills. Underclassmen study literature, poetry, and practice expository writing. By the end of a Rochester student's junior year, he has come a long way and he is fairly secure in his ability to succeed in an English class. Then comes the awful shock.

The introduction to Senior English is really not as hair-raising as many people think. If you can numb yourself to seeing your mistakes projected on a screen (for the entire world to see), or to seeing your comfortable misconceptions shattered (in front of your eyes), or if you can be impervious to receiving an E on a composition because the last sentence was a fragment, you might not have any worries about Senior English.

Math Has Its Problems

What do you say when your parrot has flown the coop? — polygon! If you were unable to answer this question, take a visit to your local Math Department. There one can find beach balls used by project math students learning about longitudes and latitudes.

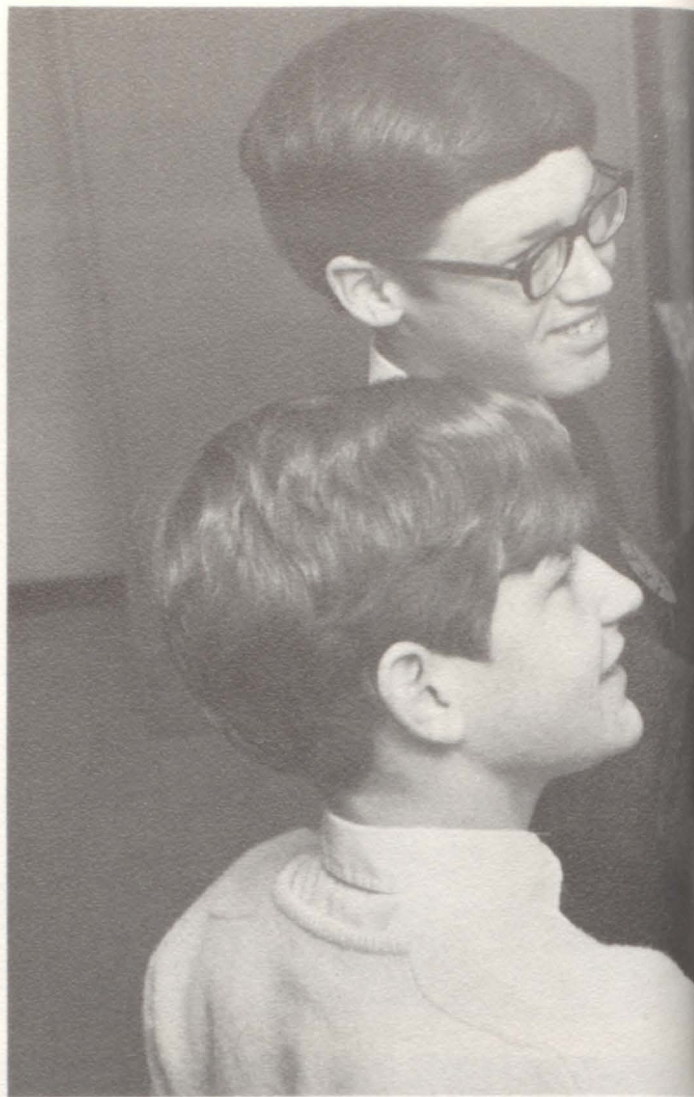

The general math students conjure up answers to their magic squares and area problems.

In geometry, the students discover that theorems are easier to write than prove.

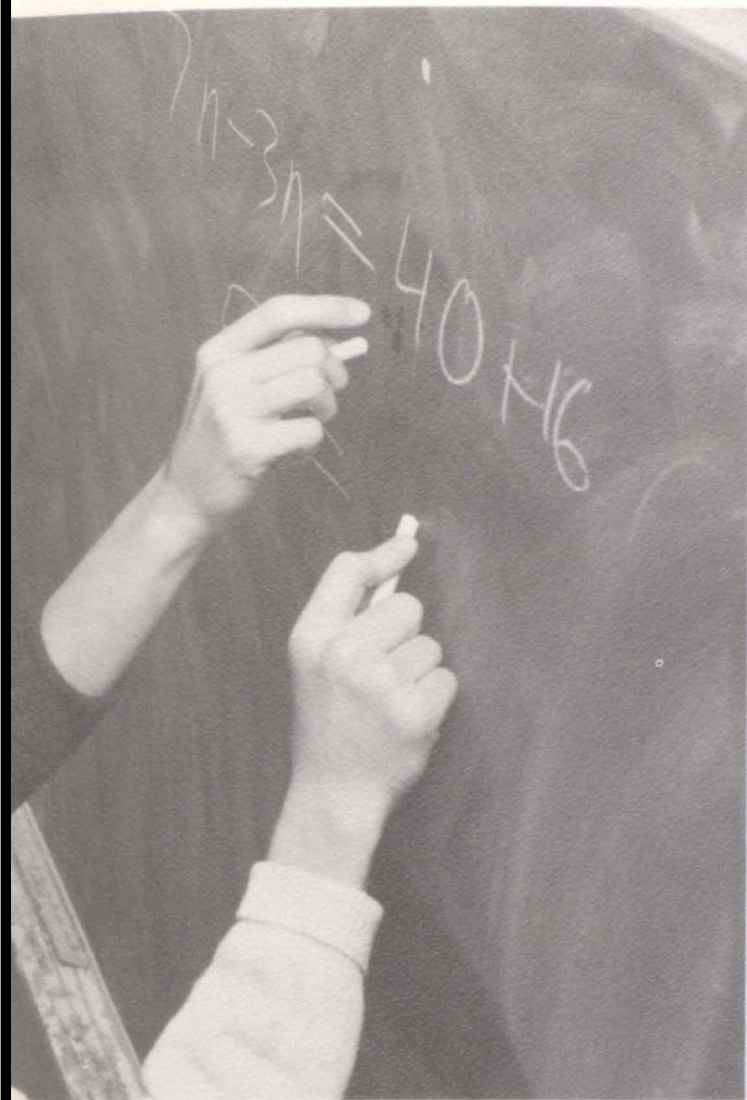

Formulas are the basis of algebra, and trigonometry students have all the joys of sines and cosines with soh-cah-toa.

Life, Liberty, and the Pursuit of Happiness

The Social Science Department at Rochester focuses on the study of life within a group — whether that group be a family, a nation, or an entire culture. Courses offered include World History, American History, Government, Economics, and Social Living. These classes are largely concerned with individual and international relationships.

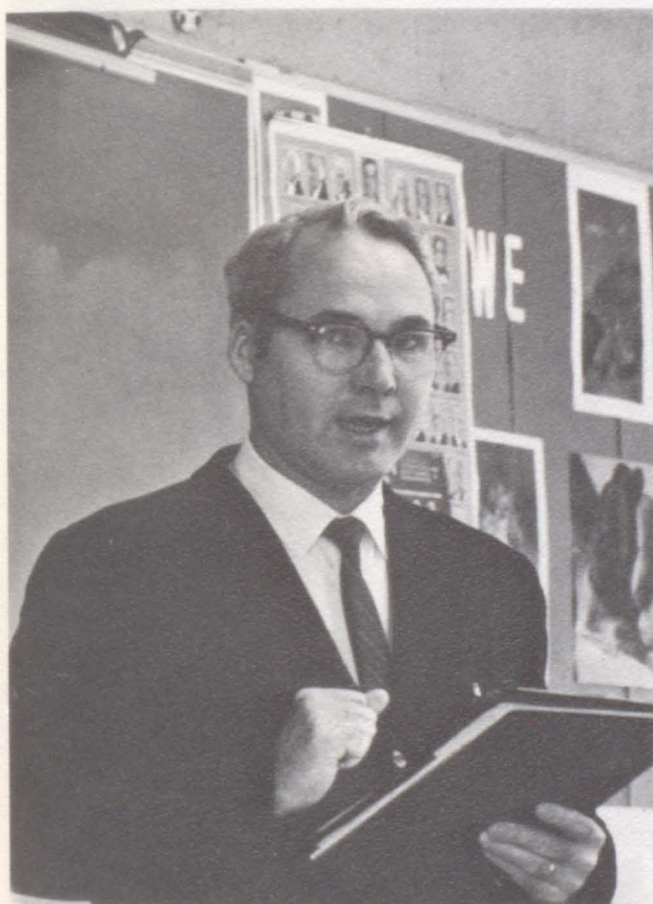

History classes help the student to understand why Hitler was able to force Neville Chamberlain into abandoning Czechoslovakia, government classes help the student understand the relationship between state and federal government, and social living classes help the student understand why father feels that way about his mother-in-law.

The Social Science teachers look over their favorite reference — the newspaper. Sitting, Mrs. McKenny, Mr. Lilly, Mrs. Lamb. Standing, Mr. Barkeley, Mr. Moser, Mr. Clute, Mr. DeGrendel, Mr. Healy, Mr. Ellerbusch.

Just What Is a Polyglot? Try a Language!

Language students at Rochester study more than just the structure and vocabulary of a language. The purpose of language study is to acquaint a student with a foreign philosophy and culture while he learns the language. In accordance with this purpose, French students study and sample French cuisine, Spanish students eat tortillas and attempt Latin dances, and German students practice their vocab words by playing German scrabble.

Mr. Palmgren, teaching French, Mrs. McBride, teaching Spanish, and Mrs. Tangert, teaching German, make up the RHS's fine language department.

Mr. Palmgren, Mrs. Hofland, Mrs. McBride, and Mrs. Tangert look over a language record.

Worlds To Conquer -

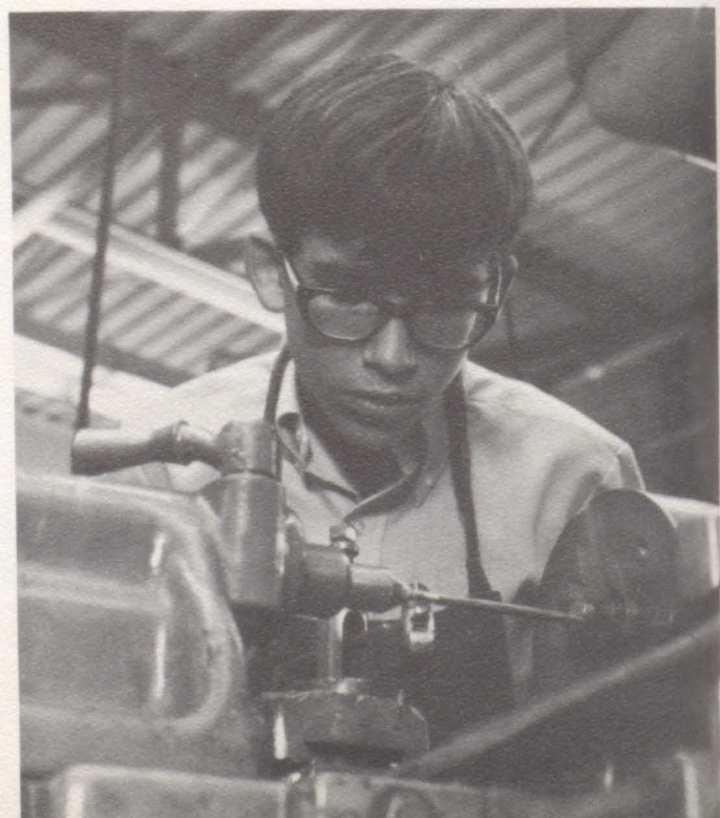

Gasp! Can it be true? We really do have an Industrial Arts Department at R.H.S. Hidden at the back of the school, the rooms are active as the students diligently sand, saw, sodder their way to creative workmanship. An electronics course can be a shocking experience, especially when surrounded by radios and T.V. sets in their various stages of repair.

As you enter the typing room, be careful not to slip on eraser crumbs. The typists, still learning, find that handy eraser essential when changing an e to an i. The office machines class is the place where students actively put down the rumor that machines will one day replace manpower. The Business Department prepares the ambitious student for the outside business world.

Displaying his fine workmanship, Mr. McVeigh listens with Mr. Mack and Mr. Tokarski to the comments of Mr. Krager.

Phys Ed Builds Strong

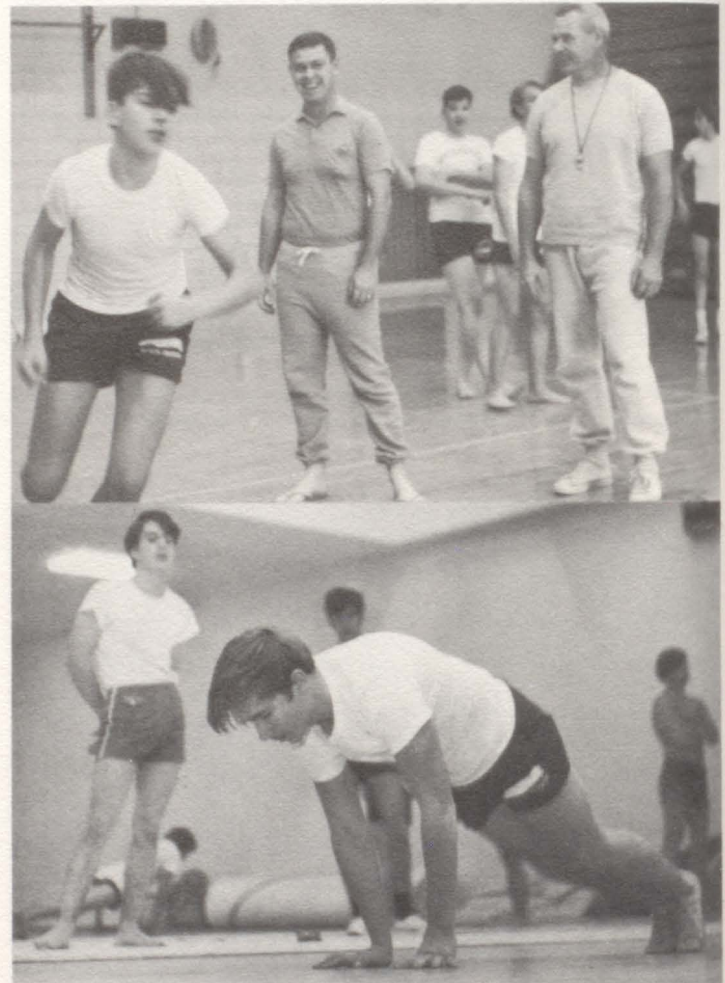

The gymnasium is always the scene of lively activity. Gym students participate in such sports as track, baseball, basketball, volleyball, cross-country, and soccer. Also included in gym class are first-aid instruction, folk and modern dancing, and gymnastics.

This year for the first time, Rochester's gym classes were able to enjoy the new swimming pool. Beginners and advanced students splashed their way through to learn new water skills and techniques. The advanced swimmers attempted the near impossible dives, while the beginners, supported by paddle boards, learned the fundamentals of floating.

In spite of all of the fun, the pool presented a problem. A few of the long-haired boys were introduced to the stifling, uncomfortable, rubber catastrophe, long known to girls as the bathing cap.

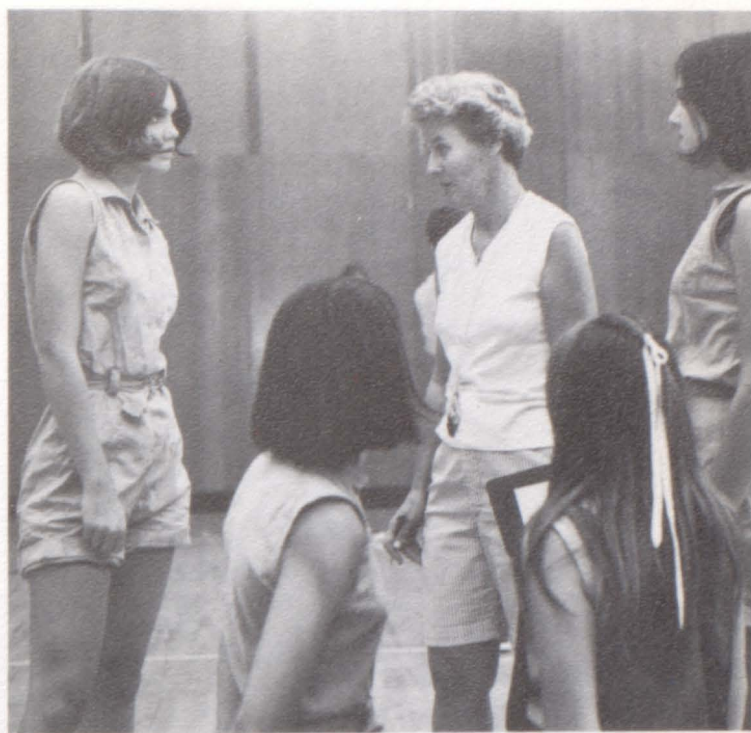

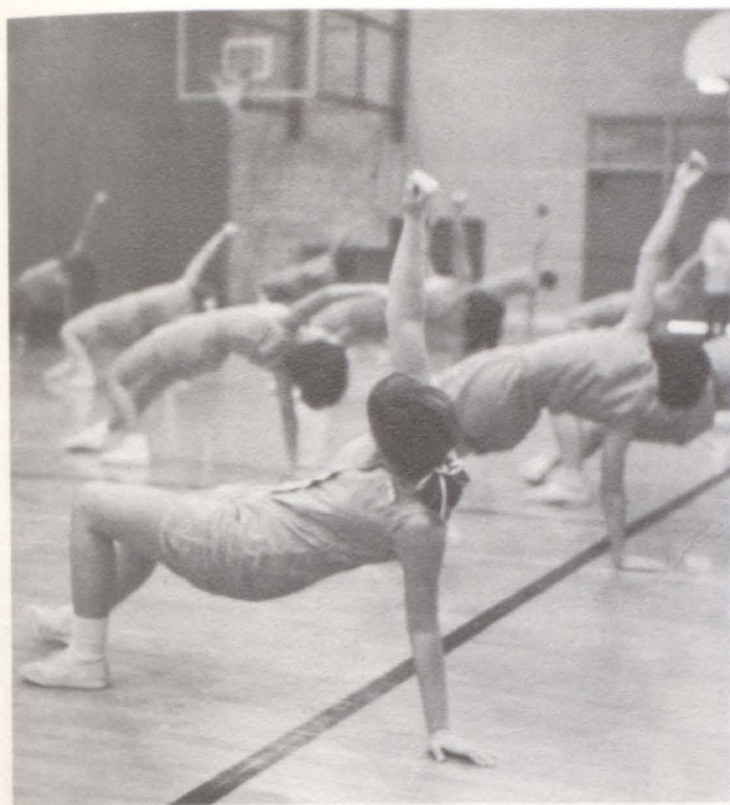

The boy's gym class participates in a relaxing game of crabsoccer.

TOP: Running relays keep the gym student in perfect condition. Mr. Ickes and Mr. Vanzo supervise the relays, making sure that the student completes the required laps. BOTTOM: Gym assistant Gary Shepherd watches closely as his sophomore gym student strains to complete his minimum 75th push-up.

Steam, Savor, Spice

Boys stealthily sneaking cookies and that special cranberry sauce simmering on the stove — could this be Grandma's house on Thanksgiving? No, this is Rochester High School's Home Economics Department.

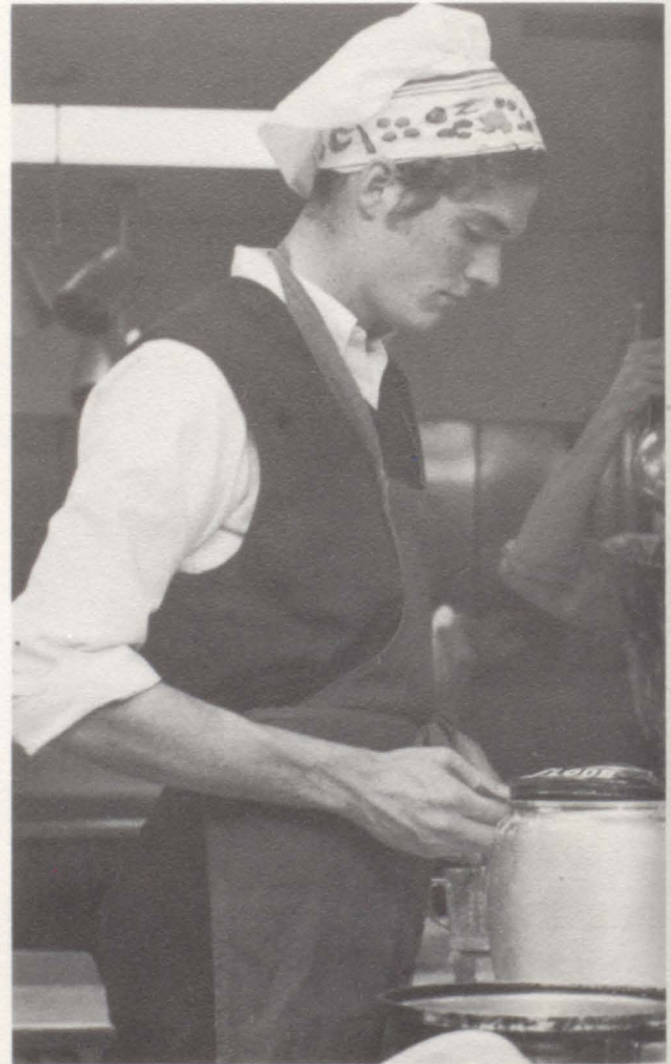

The first year homemakers set out on the path to home management with an overall view of the various areas of home economics. The boys, no longer excluded from the kitchen, enjoy an hour of homemaking in boy's foods.

There is a palette to suit every taste. The swish of brushes and the smell of paint greet the newcomer. Beautiful objects materialize in the ceramics student's hands, where one slip could reduce a Ming vase to an ashtray.

The vocal department's singing groups were busier than ever this year. The Concert Choir, the Men's Glee Club, the Treble Choir, and the Madrigal Singers, all under the superb direction of Mr. Irish, gave unique performances.

RHS's only singing department gave a sparkling Christmas Concert. An interpretative dance by Linda Kadrovach highlighted the show, and the concert was marked by the traditional "Hallelujah Chorus" by Handel. The choir's annual winter concert featured a jug band as part of the Men's Glee Club's performance. An interpretative mirror-like dance by Pam Keinath and Denise Kujat during the Treble Choir's performance was ever so enjoyable. The Concert Choir interpreted "The Cry of God" with slides projected on three screens.

The extra-curricular Madrigal Singers and their four Baroque recorders sang for banquets and meetings, later going on to win a superior rating at the Solo and Ensemble Festival. The Glee Club and the Treble Choir instigated another vocal "great" with their joint "Pop" concert. The Concert Choir ended the year with its grand showing of Rogers and Hammerstein's Oklahoma!

They Step to the Beat of Their Own Drum

Under the direction of Mr. Goldsworthy and his flashing baton, this year's band stepped off to a swinging start, playing at all four Centennial Pageant presentations. After the Centennial came the crisp, clear days of the football season. What would a game be without the ubiquitous band marching and playing in both pre-game and half-time shows? During basketball games, the band kept enthusiasm on a par with the football season while the cheerleaders danced to their catchy tunes.

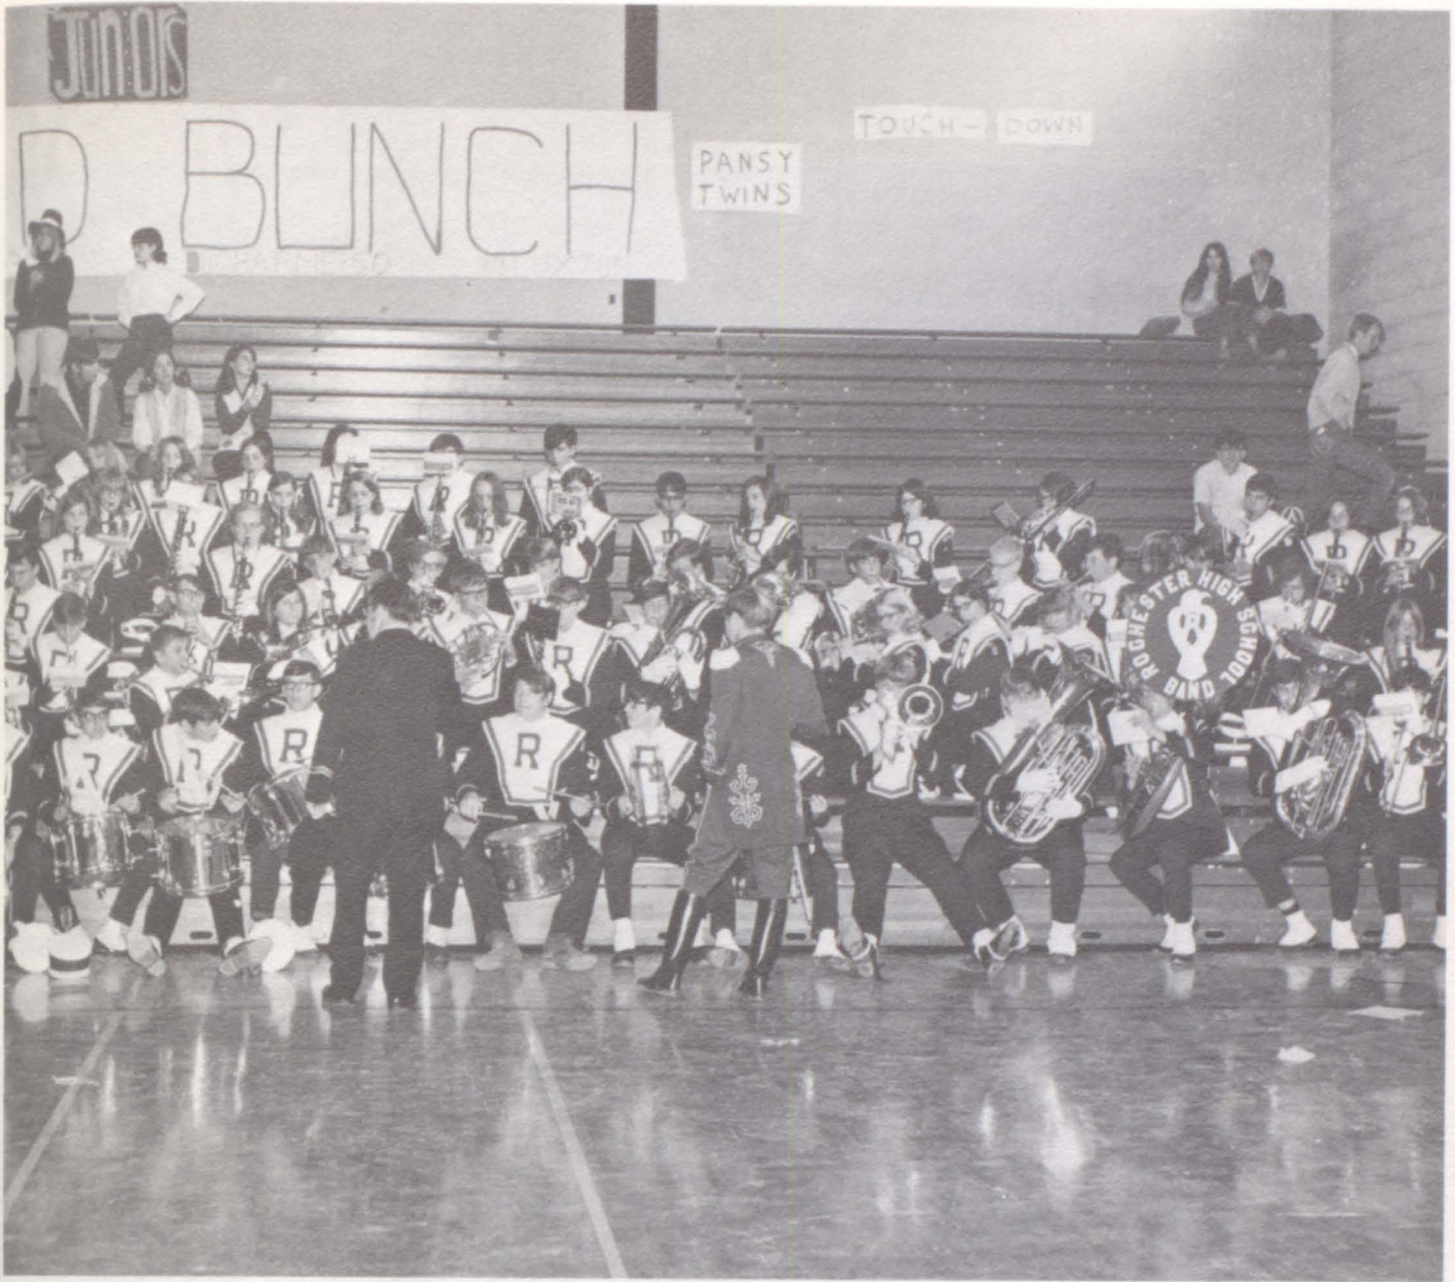

The band provides self-realization through means, both social and artistic, of playing music. Group and individual concerts give the band members opportunities to test their musical and instrumental skills.

The new Select Band, as a swing hour class this year, led the more dedicated musicians into further profound depths of music.

Hit Em Again, Hit Em Again - Harder!

The 1969 football team played better than their 1-6-1 record shows. Never losing spirit, the Falcons gave each team a hard struggle.

Coached by Mr. Urbin, the Falcons displayed many fine defensive tactics. Several individual honors were given to the Falcons. Senior guard Tom DuCharme was named to the All-Oakland "A" South Division and All-Oakland "A" League teams and received an honorable mention on the All-State Class "A" team. Steve Blair, a junior halfback, was named to the South Division defensive team and was given an honorable mention on the All-County Class "A" team. Blair led the Falcons with 54 points.

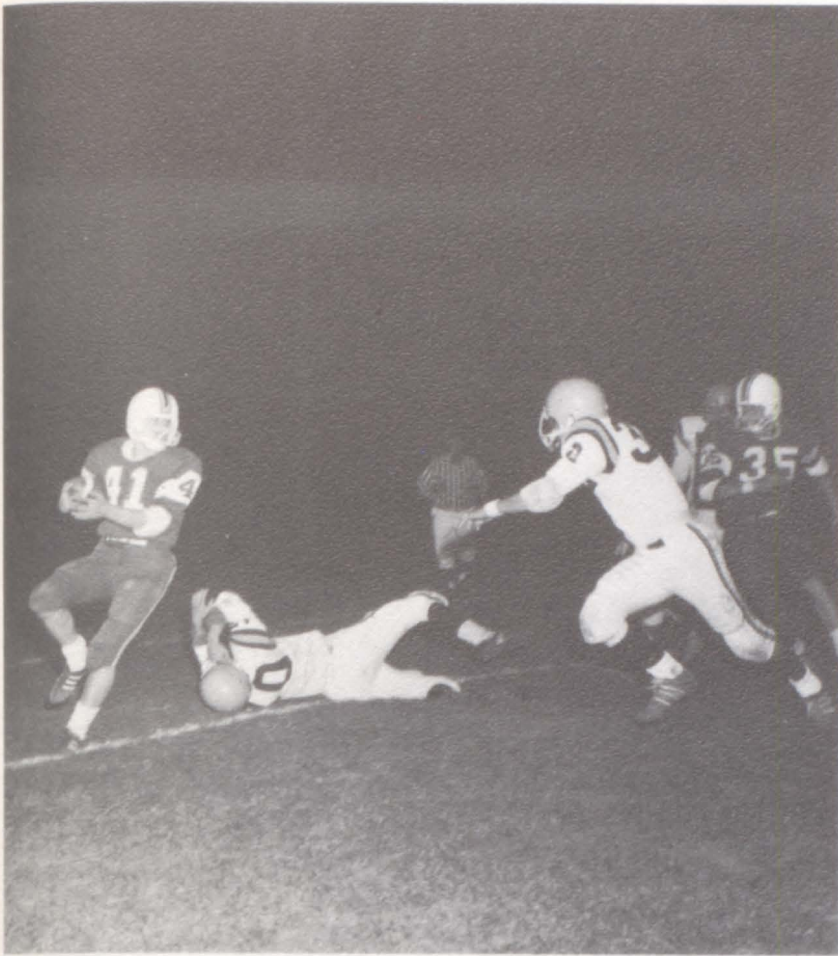

Tom Malkasian deserves recognition for his intrepid defensive work, while Dennis Winkler stood out as Rochester's largest ground gainer.

With a five game win out of seven games behind them, the Rochester Junior Varsity trampled Avondale and won the playoff with a score of 20 to 14.

Ron Johnson and George Davinich held the line while Jim Wood, Chrys Coons, and Don Culbery ran for the passes. Bob Supernaw showed the most improvement for the '69 season. Coach Ickes emphasized that he had no star player; "they all played with alot of heart."

The Freshman football team finished the season with a respectable record of 1-4-1. Coached by Mr. Langham and Mr. Tennor, the team included several outstanding players: Paul Gadeua was an outstanding lineman; Wes McPeek was an outstanding back; and Rick Gadeua was an outstanding offensive guard and defensive linebacker. As managers of the team, Gary Henning, Jim Niles, and Jerry Chamberlain contributed much towards the team's spirit and enthusiasm.

Terry King gathers the needed momentum to overcome the opposition.

On Your Mark . . . Get Set . . . Go Harriers!

Despite the loss of many key runners, the cross-country team still won four of twelve dual meets during the 1969 season. Under the guidance of Coach Horrigan, Rochester finished sixth out of twelve schools in the Oakland "A" meet.

In competition, each runner runs two miles over rough terrain. The first runner receives one point, the second runner two points, and so on. Each team counts only the points made by its first runners. The lowest score wins.

Jeff Smart, the fastest harrier on the team, demonstrated his skill in this strenuous sport by winning individual honors in several meets.

Power and Spirit

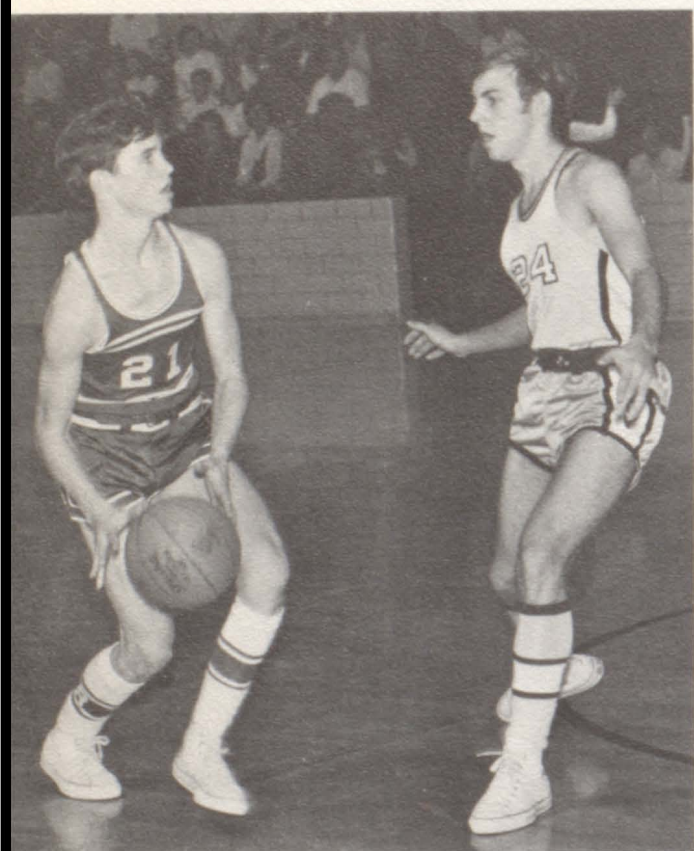

Our Team Has It

Definition: The Rochester Varsity Basketball Squad – a unified team which went against many and diverse formidable foes. Fred Harrison, the team's unforgettable captain, led the team in points scored with 366 and in rebounds with 330 to become "the most valuable player in Oakland County." Following Fred came Mark Papenberg as second highest scorer and rebounder.

Coached by Mr. Murray, the team meshed into a well-functioning unit. With the aid of manager Mike Corbin, the team was finally molded into its unified form to give the opposing teams competition they will remember. The RHS spirited Varsity Basketball team was cheered overwhelmingly when they beat Adams with scores of 48-41 and 56-50.

Captain, Fred Harrison, executes a perfect jump shot.

Freshmen and JV Compete as New Starters

A very promising group was this year's JV Basketball team. Although the team, coached by Mr. Horrigan, had no permanent captains, captains were chosen for each individual game. In this way each member of the team learned responsibility and received an honor.

Deserving recognition are several outstanding players — John Dankovich, the top scorer, Paul Brown, the top rebounder; and Lee Krompart, the most valuable player. All eyes should be turned to the 1970-71 basketball season as most of the players will hopefully be our Varsity team next year.

The managers, Jim Niles and Mike McKenney, added their moral support to the team.

As top rebounders, Brad Byers and Steve Hoffman had scores of 100 and 94 respectively. Marty Smith led the team with 154 points. They finished the season with victories over Adams and Lake Orion.

Over the Waves and Under Water

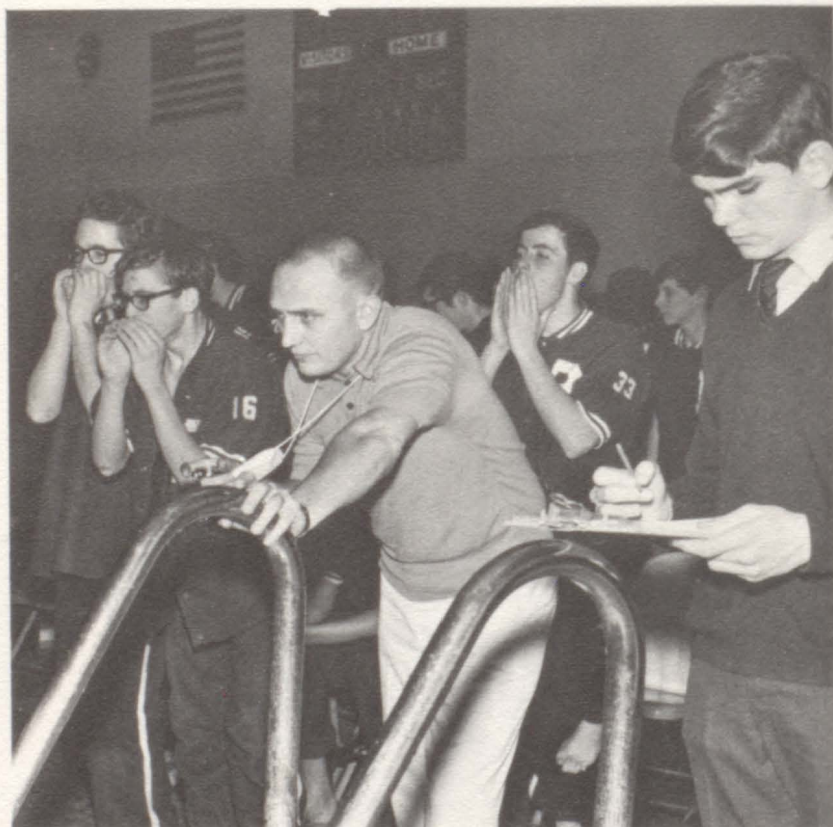

RHS swimmers enter the water with ease and perfection.

What is the first sport that comes to mind when you think of water? Naturally, swimming. Since RHS incorporated the swimming pool as a part of the facilities, swimming has become a very important spectator sport. Under the eye of Coach Tokarski and Captains Mike Karas, Bob Couture, and Rick Garritt, the swim team practiced many hours for school competition.

The boys participated in several events from individual race competition to relay races and diving. Bob Couture established a school record in the breaststroke with a time of 1:06:1; and a 100 yard freestyle record with a time of 53.9; and a 50 yard freestyle with a time of 24.1. Mike Karas set a record with a time of 58.9 using the butterfly stroke. In the District Tournament, Bob Couture took second place in the 100 yard breaststroke and in the 50 yard freestyle. Mike Karas placed second in the 100 yard backstroke. Paul Karas placed second in the 400 yard freestyle.

As the season continued, the number of fans attending increased. But one of the most faithful groups of spectators were the Timerettes. These girls kept time for the team and recorded the time so that everyone could see who had won.

Mr. Tokarski watches intently as the team shouts out encouragement.

Coaches DeGrendel and Clute explain to Jeff Smart the next move.

RHS Wrestlers Display Lots of Muscle Power

Do you know how to counter a duck-under? Use the whizar to quarter-nelson. Terms such as these permeate the average wrestler's every day language. Coached by Mr. DeGrendel and Mr. Clute with Ronn Jamieson and Mike Hall as co-captains, the team members practiced moves and conditioned themselves for competition from November to February. In a sport that requires top physical condition of the team members, Dave Davis distinguished himself as the high point scorer with 36 points. Mike Hall was voted most valuable player. The most promising players were Randy Gadoua and Ron Johnson. Henceforth, whenever you're in a single leg to grapevine, extricate yourself with the crossface and whizar — or was that the sprawl-schuck spin behind?

Ski Team Shushes

Up Super Scores

During the winter you could have seen students boarding a bus for Mt. Holly. Were they members of the Ski Club? Not exactly — they were Ski Team members. These students devoted many hours to ski practice so that R.H.S. would have a winning team.

This year's girl's ski team took a sixth place berth in The Detroit News meet and in the regional meet. In these two meets the boy's team placed 20th and 19th respectively. Under the coaching leadership of Mr. Buckmaster, the following skiers exemplified fine skills by winning medals in the regional meet. Sue Brown took 4th in slalom; Kathy Shepard placed 8th in slalom; and Dan Snyder took 7th place in giant slalom. In league meets Kathy Shepard tied for 5th place in the slalom and tied for 9th place in the giant slalom.

Sock It To 'Em - Falcons!

With Jim Davis and Les Littlejohn as captains and Stan Babiuk as the most valuable player, the varsity team charged through the season with a league record of eleven wins and one loss, winning the Oakland "A" Conference Championship. Rochester finished with a season's record of seventeen wins and three losses.

Mark McAllister, Les Littlejohn, Ted Malkasian, and Al Thomas made the All Conference Team. The season's batting averages were high with Stan Babiuk .456, Ted Malkasian .367, and Mark McAllister .339.

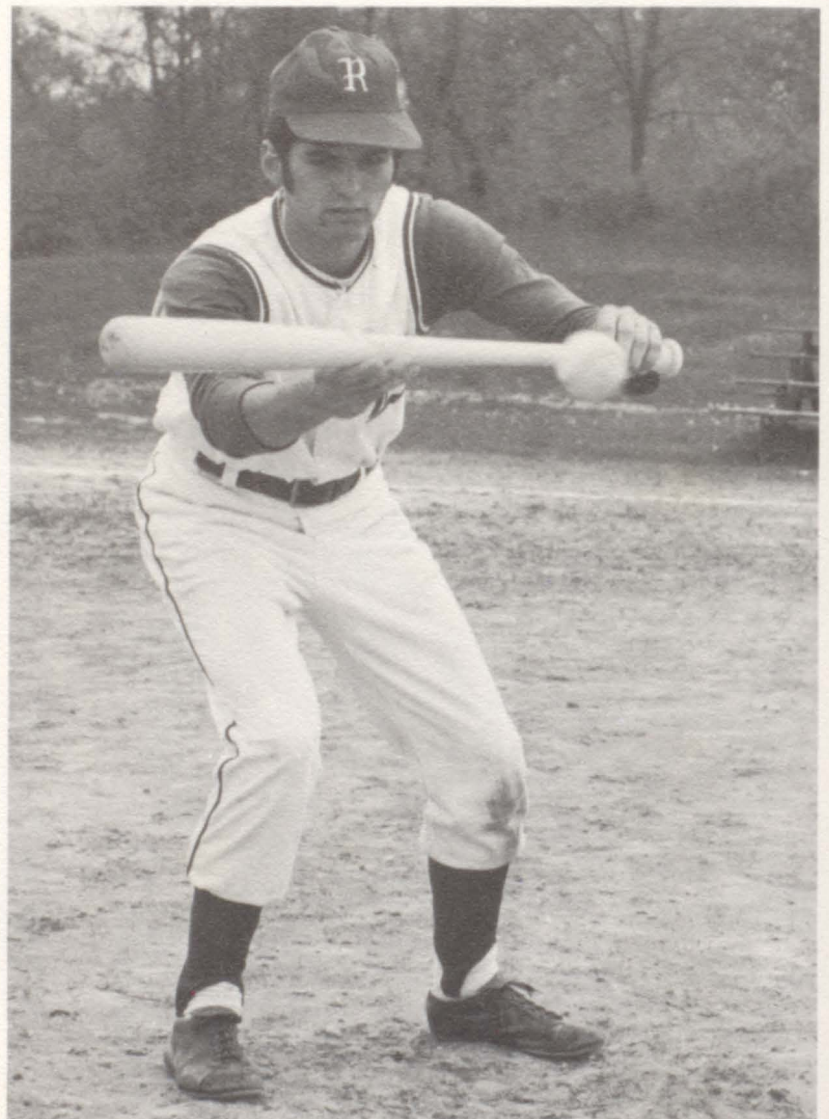

The JV team, full of spirit and enthusiasm, finished their season with a six-seven win-loss record. As Coach Schlecte knows, the team never quit trying.

High Spirit on the Run

Wild and enthusiastic crowds watched as the 1969 track team completed their second undefeated season, winning the Oakland "A" Championship for the third consecutive year, with Mr. Case as the coach. Competing against fifteen other schools, the team also won the Oxford Invitational, plus seven new trophies.

On the way to this victorious season, five track records were broken. Keith Wattles, who for three consecutive years won the two mile championship, broke his own record of 9:52.1 with a spectacular 9:33.3 time. Keith also set the new mile record with a time of 4:33.0, concluding the year with a total of 105 points and fourteen first places.

Russ Gill set a pole vault record of 12'9½". Calvin McDaniel ran a record time of 2:01.1 in the 880. Recognition goes to Steve Poirer, Bob Sanderson, Calvin McDaniel, and Jim Powers for their time of 3:30.5 in the mile relay.

The Cheerleaders Are the Peppiest Girls

This year with the addition of another class, Freshmen, the cheerleaders added another squad to their total organization so that there are three sparkling squads at RHS. Mrs. McBride, sponsor of Varsity and J.V., and Mrs. Whitaker, Freshmen sponsor, strove for perfection in cheerleading abilities. Cheerleaders promoted exuberance during assemblies and games through catchy chants like "Hey through the hoop" during basketball season. The girls also presented pom-pom routines. The cheerleaders shall always be remembered as the boosters of morale when times were low and the smilingest girls around when everyone was backing them in spirit and pride for ole' RHS.

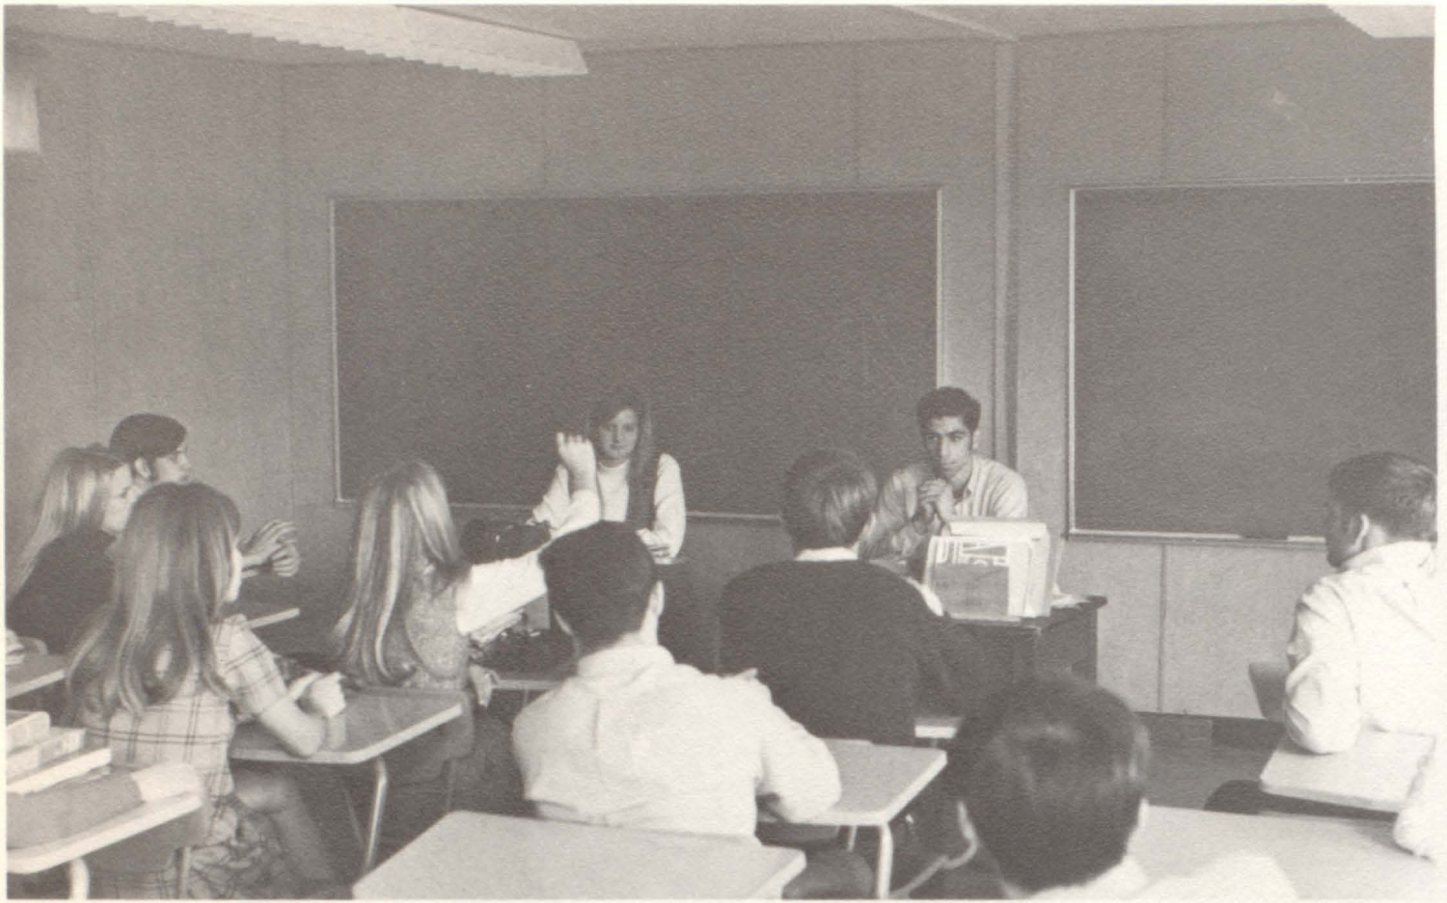

STUDENT LIFE

To live is not merely to breathe, it is to act.

SC Accomplishes a 'Biggy' - Dress Code

Who is the go between for student and Establishment? Who sponsors Homecoming, pep assemblies, and clothing and tote bag sales, and sells season tickets for basketball and football games? You guessed it! The Student Council.

The Student Council is the students' government—their means of communication on a grand level. Supporting an orphan child, presenting the A.F.S. reception, a carnival, computer dance, and improving the school are also activities furthered by the Student Council.

Representing the Council are President Tom Malkasian, Vice-President Tom DuCharme, Secretary Debbie Burns, and Treasurer Cheri Hames, all of whom hope to fulfill the Student Council's purpose of really representing the student body.

NHS Honors Achievers

There is too a club for the scholastic-minded student at RHS! Formed to promote the leadership and scholastic ability, the Honor Society, every year invites some new members to join. Later, an assembly is held to initiate these new members into the club.

As for what they do, Honor Society members, under the expert leadership of President Bill Wise, and Vice-President Jean McNally, Secretary Linda Brozovich, and Treasurer Betty Weymouth and the helpful sponsorship of Mrs. Lamb, keep busy by helping out around the school. At College Night they served as guides to show the speakers to their assigned rooms and also gave out schedules to the people who did not have any. Later in the year, the Honor Society members took care of the teachers' children at a Teacher's Credit Union Meeting. To help pay for robes, a successful bake sale was held.

and JA Makes Them

The business world can be a complicated one. Junior Achievement, formed to give practical business experience to interested high school students, can iron out some of the apprehensions of the student wishing later to enter the world of business. Several Junior Achievement companies meet at RHS for two hours once every week. In that time projects are made and packaged to be later sold. Products such as Michigan History pictures, Wall Flowers, and cutting boards were made by various companies this year. All that the junior achievers have to finally remember is that the better salesmanship, the more sales that are made.

Mr. Toney observes a JA business meeting.

Basketballs and Balance

The Girls' Athletic Association is organized every year in order to give girls at RHS an opportunity to engage in sports and other athletic activities. G.A.A. is really much like a gym class after school. Girls are expected to follow certain rules about dress and behavior. Miss Guillaume supervises the G.A.A. and is assisted by President Debbie Seed and Vice-President Krista Heins. G.A.A. is fun for the girls and gives them the opportunity to develop their individual and team skills. Even though blisters and callouses may be acquired in the course of events, the G.A.A. can still be termed . . . SUPERFUN!

Another organization which encourages physical durability is the Gymnastics Club. Sponsored by Mrs. Brosier, the club's purpose is to allow girls interested in gymnastics to better their skills and develop a team for competition. At meetings held in the auxiliary gym, the girls used mats, the balance beam, uneven parallel bars, and the side horse to improve their techniques and acrobatic agility.

Action - Motto of Pep and Conservation Club

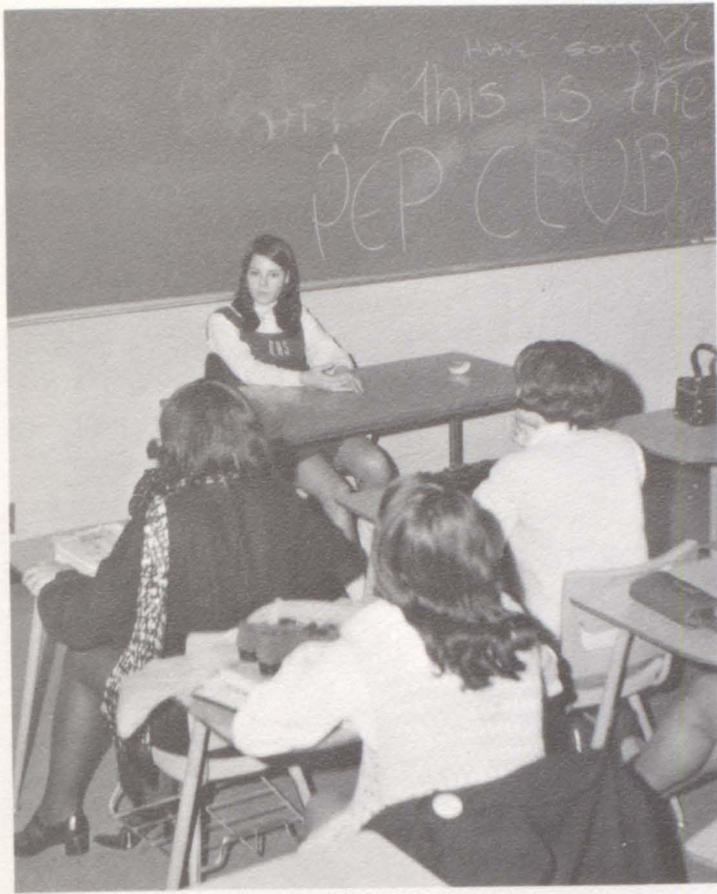

What are those people doing out there in the school courts - fighting the Establishment? No, it is the Conservation Club beautifying the school by weeding, pruning, and planting trees, shrubs, and flowers. The Conservation Club's Sadie Hawkins dance gives students their real chance to dress in the nitty gritty. The club also played a part in Homecoming by selling spirit buttons. With their sponsor, Dr. Mallon, they ended their year by tackling the AuSable in tiny canoes.

Posters for the upcoming games – whether football, basketball, or any other seasonable sport – are on constant display by the Pep Club. Under the carefree guidance of President Larry Miller and the steady sponsorship of Mr. Kerr, the Pep Club makes sure that issues are well advertised on game days and that spirits are kept high.

Glen Barthelemew shows Sibyl Stringer and Pam Parks how the poster should be made.

Do Your Own Thing

Painting a smile of a Rembrandt is not the initiation to Art Club. Any student interested in art may join. At the Wednesday meetings, students plan activities and finish projects for various events. The "Annual Christmas Sale," picnics, winning car floats for Homecoming, trips to museums, and bake sales keep the Art Club busy. Proceeds from the activities are used for cash prizes for Portfolio Competition, a scholarship for a talented individual, and service programs for the art department.

Varsity Club Spells Out Vim and Vigor

The vision of boys — with the newly acquired assistance of girls — making and selling popcorn is not uncommon in the halls of R.H.S. You may have seen some of these boys at the football games — the ones wearing the numbered jerseys and playing football. Perhaps you saw the girls leading the cheers or whizzing down snow covered slopes. These people are the R.H.S. athletes who form the Varsity Club. The purpose of Varsity Club, guided by Mr. DeGrendel, is to “promote a high standard of athletics . . . to create a fellowship among varsity athletes . . . and especially to promote pride in the athletic field.”

Mrs. McBride discusses the cultures of Latin America.

The Spanish Club, sponsored by Mrs. McBride, is composed of students who enjoy exposure to Spanish and Latin-America culture.

Meetings are bi-monthly. Members listen to Latin music, dance, plan fiestas, and have a good time. Christmas was celebrated this year with a big party, complete with pinatas. Refreshments included such spicy treats as tortillas, enchilatas, and tacos, all prepared and consumed by the club's avid members.

Last year many members of the Spanish Club were able to travel to Mexico, and a similar trip was planned for this year.

The aim of the French Club is to provide interested students with an opportunity to acquaint themselves with French culture. The French Club exposes its members to French art, cuisine, and customs in an entertaining and enjoyable manner. For instance, the French Club celebrated the holiday season with a gala French dinner, followed by caroling. Served were soupe a l'oignon, fricasee de poulet, boeuf gourgignon, mousse du chocolat, and chocolate eclairs.

Meetings are bi-monthly and supervised by Mr. Palmgren. The members of La Cercle Francaise watch French movies, prepare culinary masterpieces, and plan fieldtrips. This year the French Club was the winner of Rochester's Homecoming Parade float competition.

French Club members read French magazines.

Chefs Bake Bread And Skiers Slalom

Have you ever wondered where the Chef of Topinkas got his start? In a few years you may see one of the active members of the Chef's Club as a noted connoisseur. The Chef's Club promoted interest in food service and also the hobby of food. As a volunteer project, the boys made and served refreshments on College Night. They visited food processing service departments in conjunction with studying modern electronic food processing as a career.

Every Tuesday and Thursday during winter a busload of snow bunnies and shussers leaves for Mount Holly for fun in the snow. The only requirement is the skier's presence and his registration fee. The International Club, headed by Mrs. Feeley, provides a media of exchange for the foreign student with the new people around him. Various places of interest, such as Greenfield Village and a automobile factory, are visited to give a panorama of America.

Grammar Goes in Action as Crew Highlights

John Lauder demands, "Let's stop this 'pussyfootin' around!"

Tim Matheny and Betty Weymouth debate the validity of the proposition.

Throughout the year a group of boys called the Stage Crew worked unmercifully to provide lighting and scenery for events in the auditorium. After acquiring the necessary knowledge, they assisted in producing community and school events, such as the Miss Rochester Pageant, Red Stocking Review, Senior Class Play, concerts and musicals. Under the direction of Mr. Irish, the Stage Crew has established itself as an essential group for all performances in our auditorium.

What's challenging, creative, exciting, and sometimes frightening? Debate — formal oral controversy. The following proposition was the 1969-1970 National Debate topic: Resolved, That Congress should prohibit U.S. unilateral military intervention in foreign countries. In simpler terms the question is: Should the U.S. have been involved in Vietnam, Korea, and Cuba?

In this class students also participate in lively discussions on drugs, crime, welfare, and foreign affairs. Seniors Pete Fedigan, Tim Matheny, Sue Steward, and Betty Weymouth served also as panelists on WPON's Rap Session as an extra class activity.

Staff Combats Trials and Finishes Triumphant

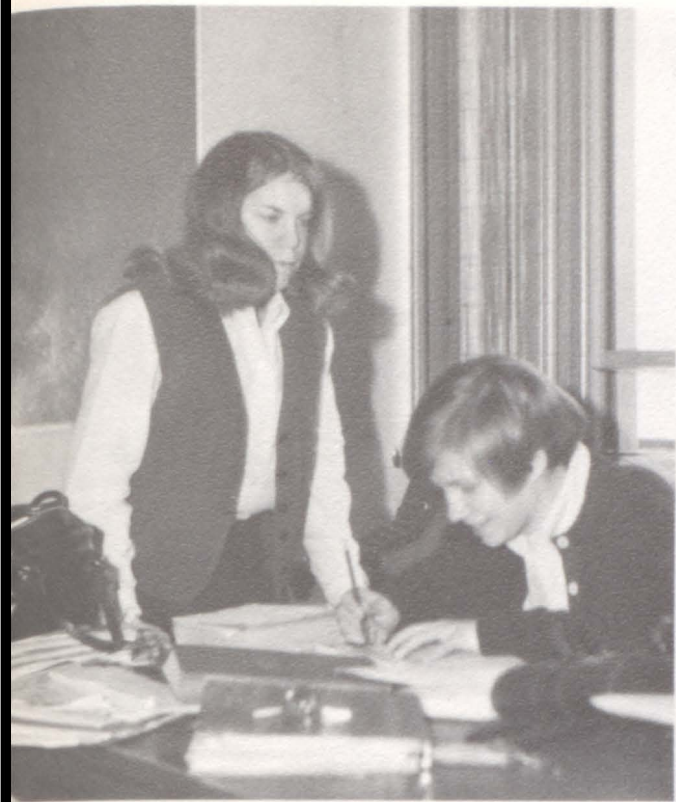

Good sales are the foundations for good yearbooks.

Unless you are an active member of the Falcon Yearbook staff you will never realize the extraordinary work which is necessary to produce a great yearbook. Misery is working on the yearbook! Misery is being chased by a vicious dog as you attempt to deliver a yearbook to a patron. Misery is missing a bus when Editor, Krista Heins and Assistant Editor, Ann Boelter attended the University of Detroit Yearbook Seminar. Misery is having the pictures stolen just prior to a deadline. Misery is trying to find a pica typewriter on which to type the copy. Misery is trying to write cut-lines and body copy for a club that you don't know anything about. Misery is staying up all night to meet a deadline. Misery is being anywhere but in class when you are supposed to be in class. But, alas, misery loves company. Just in case you haven't realized it, the yearbook staff has had loads of fun during their many indisputable experiences.

Who likes to dance, attend plays and movies, and go shopping? Why, the same person who has been enjoying a year's visit here in the United States — Helma Marx, a native of Hamburg, Germany.

While here in the U.S., Helma discovered the sports of skiing and tennis both of which she now enjoys immensely. She was an active participant in many of the school's extra-curricular activities and enjoyed attending youth group meetings at church. Many afternoons, Helma worked as a teacher aide in the first grade at North Hill Elementary.

When interviewed about her opinions of American life Helma responded with enthusiasm about the opportunities of belonging to many clubs and taking many subjects. Helma was grateful to the teachers of RHS who were very friendly and helpful to her.

With her spontaneous friendliness and her penchant for making friends, we all know that Helma will always be remembered.

With nostalgia, Anna and Helma survey the miles they are from home.

Debbie Burns explains some American terminology to Helma.

Anna and Helma Our Ambassadors

Ever hear of Torino, a large city in the Northern region of Italy? Torino is the home of Anna Martino, RHS's visiting Italian exchange student. Visiting the United States as a member of the American Field Service Program, Ann described this year as "a great experience that will last a lifetime. You learn so many things that you never knew before about other people and about yourself, too."

This year Anna has discovered the American people and their way of life. Anna enjoyed many experiences as a Foreign exchange student. One experience was participating in the model U.N. seminars in Detroit. She was immensely happy when her bill to help the Middle East situation passed in the General Assembly session.

Upon graduation from high school, Anna plans to attend the University of Torino though she hopes to be able to return to the United States to attend college — her major: foreign languages.

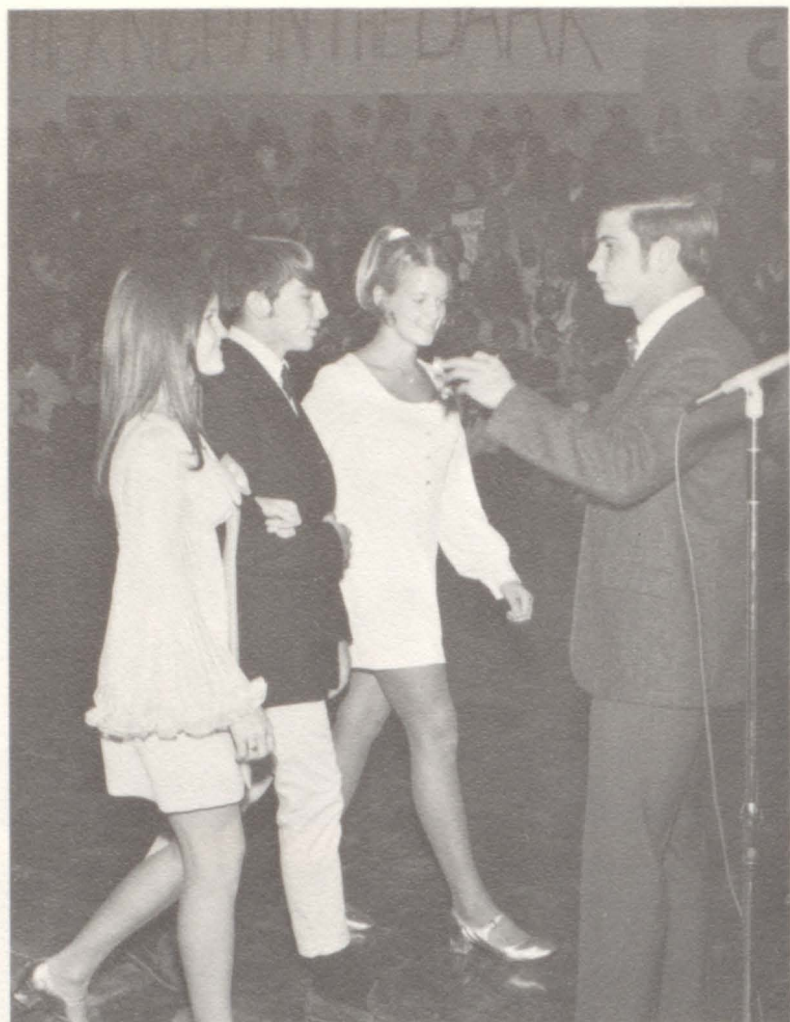

Anna studies the principles of American Government.

Suspense Climaxed in the Show at Halftime

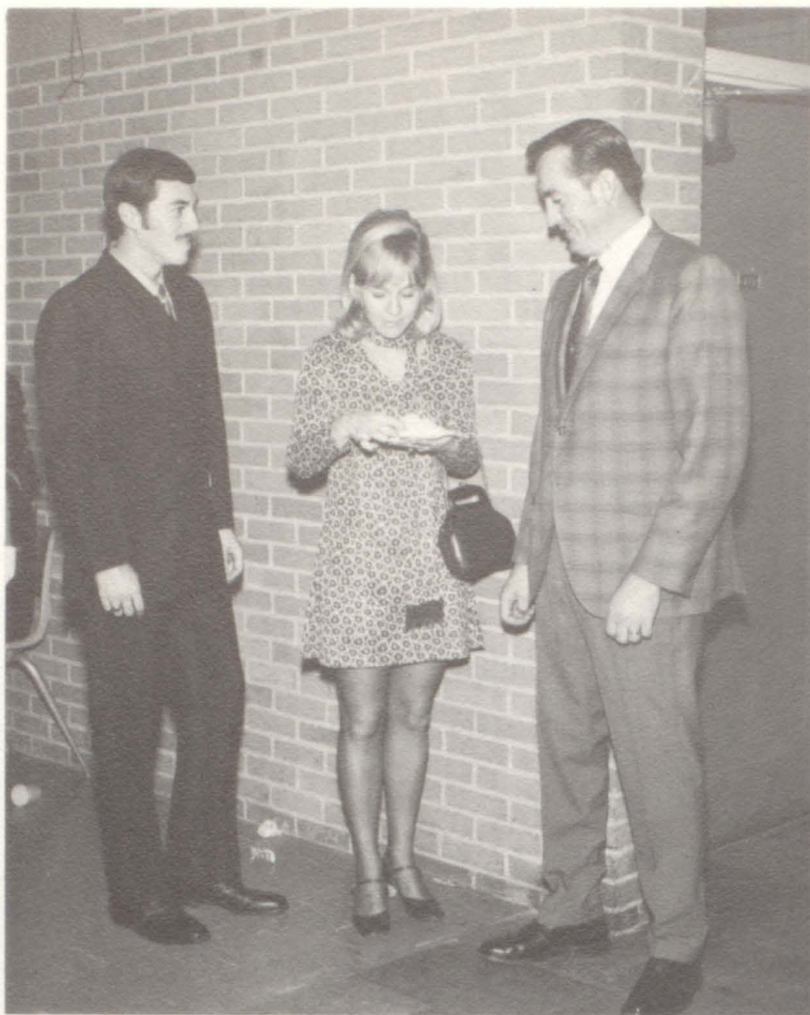

At the game, excitement remained high as everyone waited for halftime with the announcement of the winning float and the crowning of the queen. The suspense ended when the seniors won with the best float under the theme "For Whom The Bell Tolls." The French Club's "Falcons of France" won the car competition. Halftime climaxed with the crowning of Cheri Chandler as Queen of the 1969 Homecoming.

Homecoming festivities ended with Camelot, the semi-formal dance over which Queen Cheri reigned. The Orange Krush from Ann Arbor dazzled the dancers. Despite the loss of the game, this 1969 homecoming could sincerely be called a memorable event.

East Side, West Side--All Around the Town

Students read historic words near the U.N. building.

A classic pose of the U.N. building — the destination of the trip.

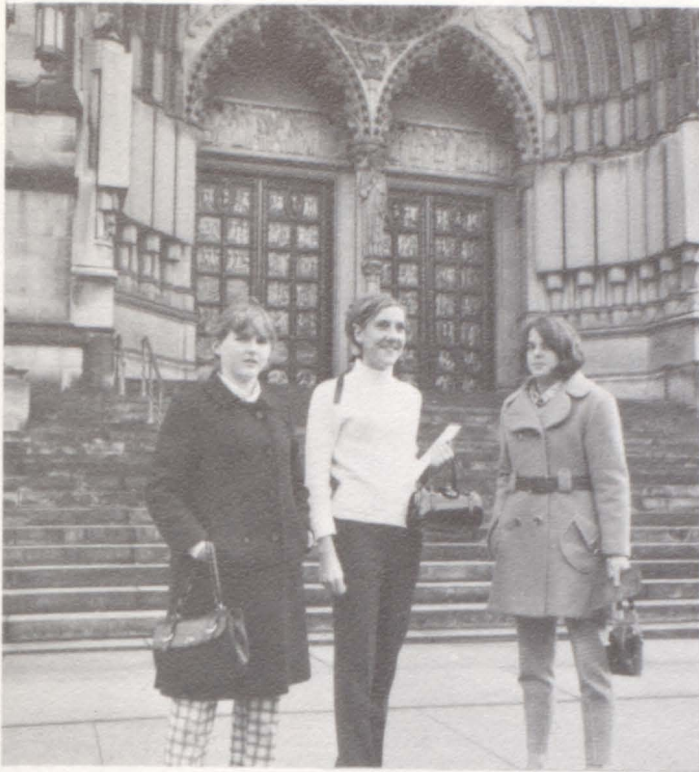

In New York City streets run North and South, avenues run East and West, and students run wild.

RHS U.N. Affairs students flew to New York in November for an educational and exciting weekend. For education, they toured the United Nations building, attended assembly meetings, and visited their respective Embassies. Entertainment included eating at Mamma Leone's restaurant and enjoying Italian cuisine. Afterward, the group took in a show by the agile Rockettes performing at Radio City Music Hall. The students, also, attended "Hello Dolly," and some witnessed the well-known production of "Hair".

Subways and Greenwich Village lured the visitors and added to their overall large dose of big city living.

The group looks bewildered as they map out their plans.

Christmas Comes But Once A Year

Time out for refreshments and relaxation.

Band students saw stars three weeks before the Saturday of December 13. Was the practice that hard? No..., it was the tireless musicians making decorations for "Crystal Christmas." Colors of blue, crystal, and white dominated the cafeteria, the scene of the dance, and boughs, colored by blue lights, decked the walls.

The dancers had to be on their best behavior when Santa appeared to make sure that he would fill the stockings on the cozy chimney. But soon Santa tuned in on the festivities where pine fragrance permeated the dance floor, and stencilled windows and snowflaked ceiling and walls reminded dancers of the enchantment of Christmas. Last, but of course, not least, the peerless pulsating performance presented by the "Plain Brown Wrapper."

The "Plain Brown Wrapper" sets the beat for a Joyous Noel.

We Get Hoof's Eye View of Basketball

Once again the Seniors pitted themselves against the Faculty in a grueling ordeal known as Donkey Basketball. Fourteen hundred students watched with baited breath as the Faculty led the score up to the last thirty seconds. Then the Seniors ran off with a win of 16 to 14. Mr. Murray could not get on his donkey and Brad Clegg kept missing the basket. Ron Hasse spiced-up the action with a little fist-fighting, and students even witnessed a seat-splitting event.

Mr. Clute makes a clean sweep.

Special Activities Mold Well-Rounded Students

During the course of the year the Student Council sponsored three assemblies to broaden the students' horizons.

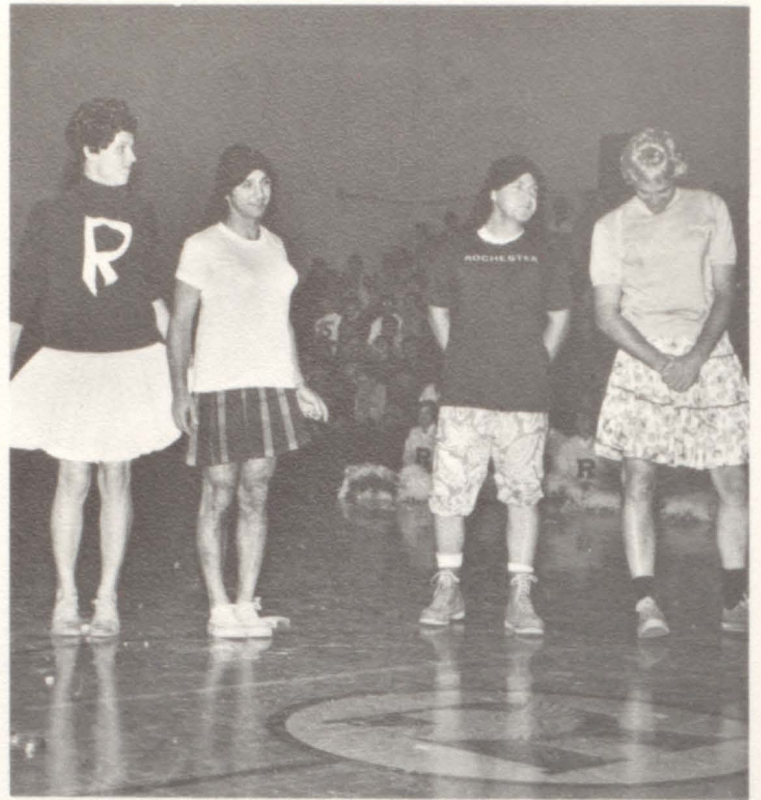

R.H.S. was privileged to be host of Mr. Frederick Ashley, a representative of the State Department from Washington, D.C. He spoke on the subject of Vietnam.

The A.F.S. Committee of the Student Council sponsored an assembly in which the two foreign exchange students, Anna Martino and Helma Marx, presented talks on their countries and themselves. Through the efforts of the Student Council and these two girls a better understanding of Italy and Germany was achieved.

Everyone should have been impressed with the Student Council's assembly devoted to school vandalism. Slides were shown of school conditions — first good, then bad — so that students would fully realize the tragic story.

Another special activity, a spaghetti dinner, was sponsored by the Junior Class in honor of the Seniors.

Each of these activities increased the participation of the Rochester students in many fields of interest.

George Washington Slept at RHS Senior Play

The slogan "come one - come all to the greatest show on earth" seemed to be true last March when the Senior Class presented George Washington Slept Here. The comedy was concerned with the problems of the Fuller Family when Mr. Fuller (Fred Gullen) bought a house in the country without telling his city-bred wife, Annabelle, (Debbie Burns). Mrs. Douglas (Margaret Eddy) welcomed the newcomers with news that George Washington really never slept in their home. Mr. Prescott (Pete Fedigan) was furious when village swindler, Mr. Kimber, (Craig Renius) dug a well on Prescott's property. Madge Fuller (Susan Hathaway) fell in love with a visiting actor, Clayton Evans, (Scott Kennedy). Madge's boyfriend, Steve, (Bob Sharp) and Clayton's wife, Rena, (Havelin Handloser) quickly chased after their lost partners. Later, rich Uncle Stanley, (Gary Stoner) who was really broke, dropped in. Madge's friends (Cheri Chandler, Tony Collins, Carol Kahler, Bob Hunt, Ron Turkus, and Carol Barnard) came to call, too. With little success, Uncle Stanley tried to tell his little shaver stories to the teens. The brat, Raymond, (Gary McMahon) teased Hester, the maid, (Debbie Seed) about her baby. Hester the cook, Katie, (Ann Fox) threatened to quit because a horse was in her kitchen. These incidents plus the superb guidance of Director, Mrs. Sandra Montgomery, Assistant Betty Weymouth and crews made the play fantastic!

Director, Mrs. Montgomery listens to Betty Weymouth's suggestions.

Havelin Handloser and Scott Kennedy argue while Pete Fedigan, Margaret Eddy and Debbie Seed engage in quiet entertainment.

Visitors Tony Collins, Carol Kahler, Carol Barnard, Bob Hunt, Cheri Chandler, and Ron Turkus recreate a rainy day activity.

Gary Stoner, Fred Gullen, and Craig Renius drink away their rent-due-time tensions in a humorous way.

Work Makes Us Healthy Individuals

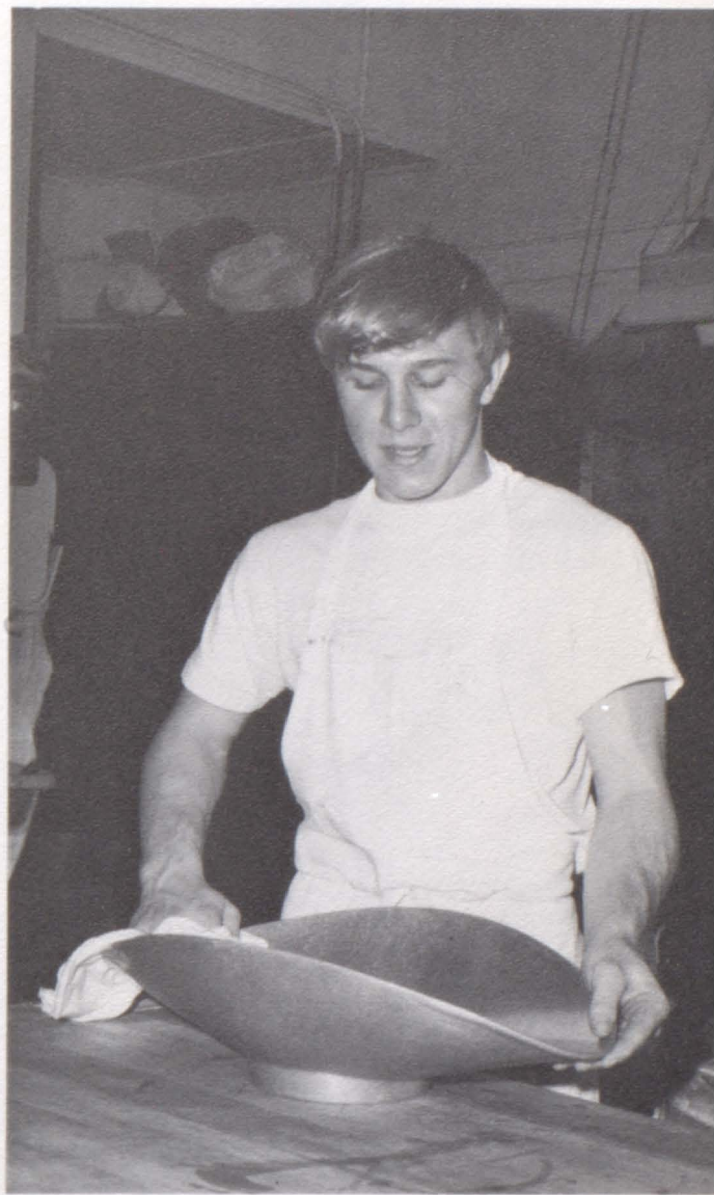

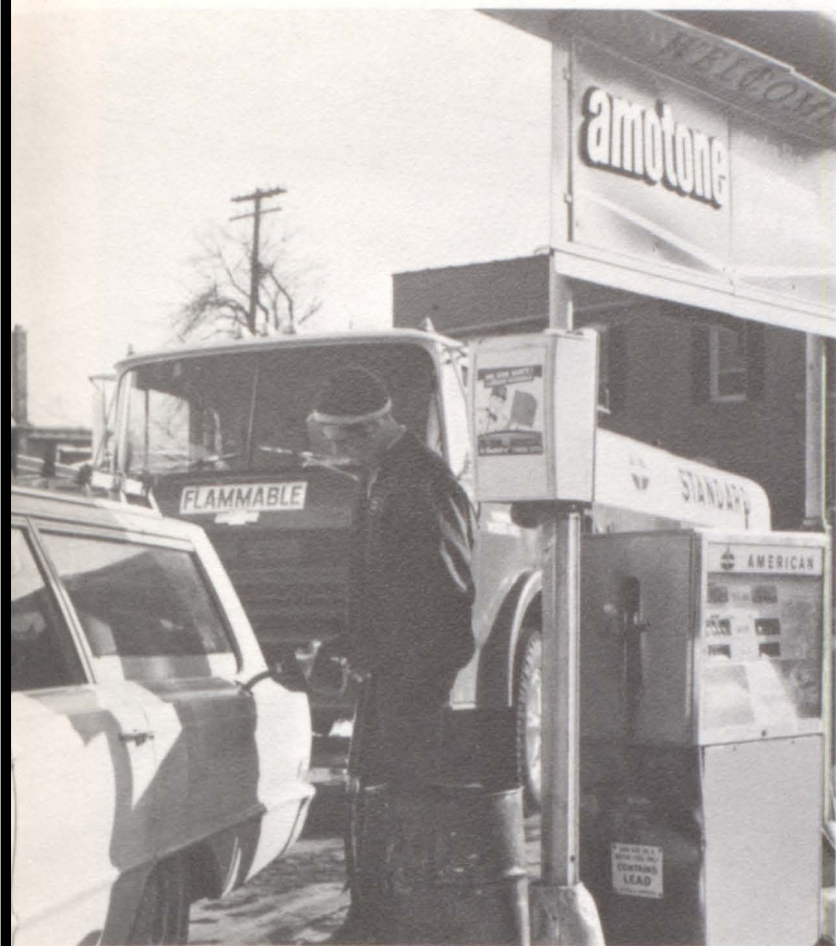

Gay Steinbrink enjoys working at Cunningham's. "Cigars, cigarettes, tipparillos?"

Students have time to engage in other tasks after homework. One of the non-school activities could be a job. Ambitious fortune-seekers get jobs by themselves or through Co-op sponsor, Mr. Turco. The jobs can include being a dishwasher, sales clerk, gas station attendant, laboratory technician assistant, stock-boy, waitress, or just about any job the person is willing to take on. Jobs provide extra spending money, a means to finance a college education, business experience, and a general knowledge and understanding of people.

Volunteer Helpers

Welcomed Anywhere

Interested in volunteer work? This year many students under the sponsorship of Mrs. McKenney worked in one of three volunteer groups.

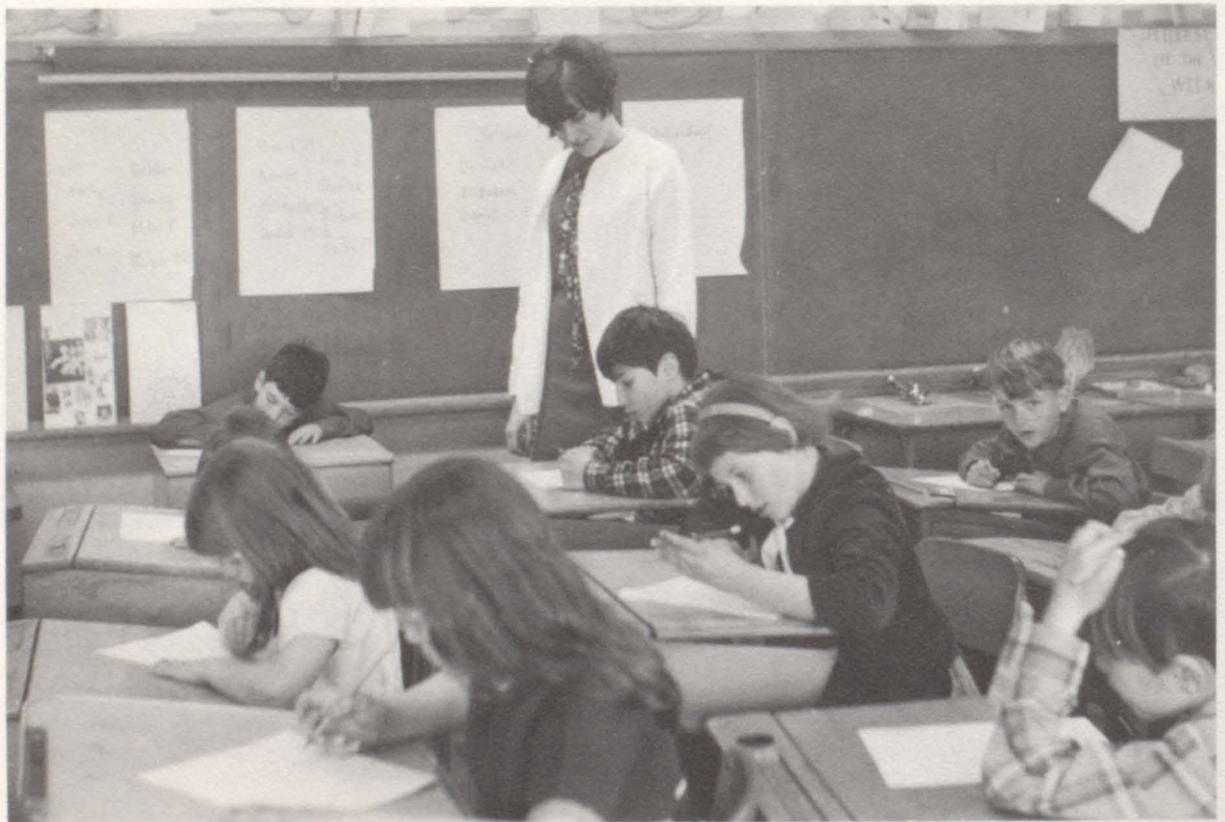

McConnell Elementary in Pontiac is where some of the volunteers spent many of their afternoons. The volunteers worked in the kindergarten with Spanish speaking children. Their job: to teach these children to speak English fluently.

Acting as teacher aides, other students spent afternoons in Pontiac working in the Headstart program. This program included working in day nurseries and Headstart programs in the schools.

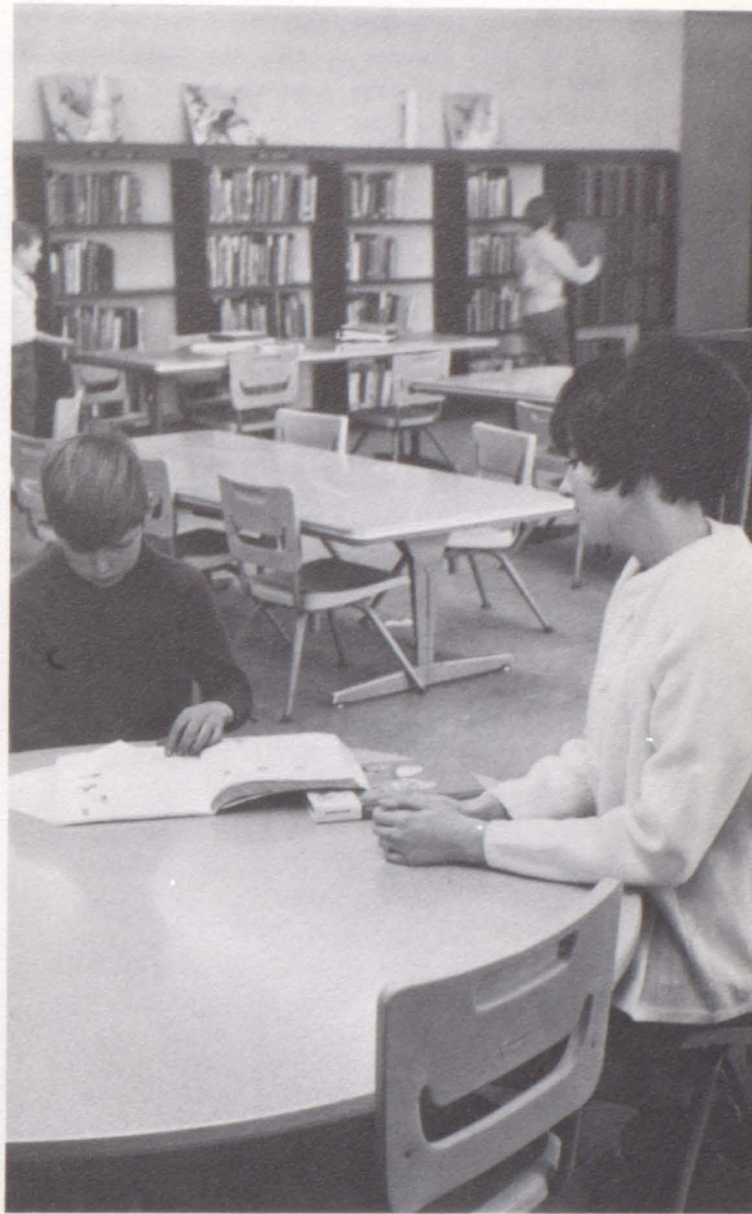

Long Meadow, North Hill, McGregor, Brooklands — do these names sound familiar? All are Rochester elementary schools where RHS students did volunteer work as teacher aides. The volunteers helped the elementary students with math, spelling, and art projects. For many RHS students, this year has been a busy and satisfying one.

Who Is Wearing the Pants Now at School?

A few months ago many students woke up, dressed and started to the breakfast table; however, they were questioned by their parents because they were wearing sport clothes - slacks, jeans - to school on a normal school day. "Just one minute, son," or "Goodness, dear, you can't wear pants to school." In reply, students answered that they were able to wear anything so long as it was in good taste. From this time on, responsibility was placed in the parent's hands to determine their youth's attire.

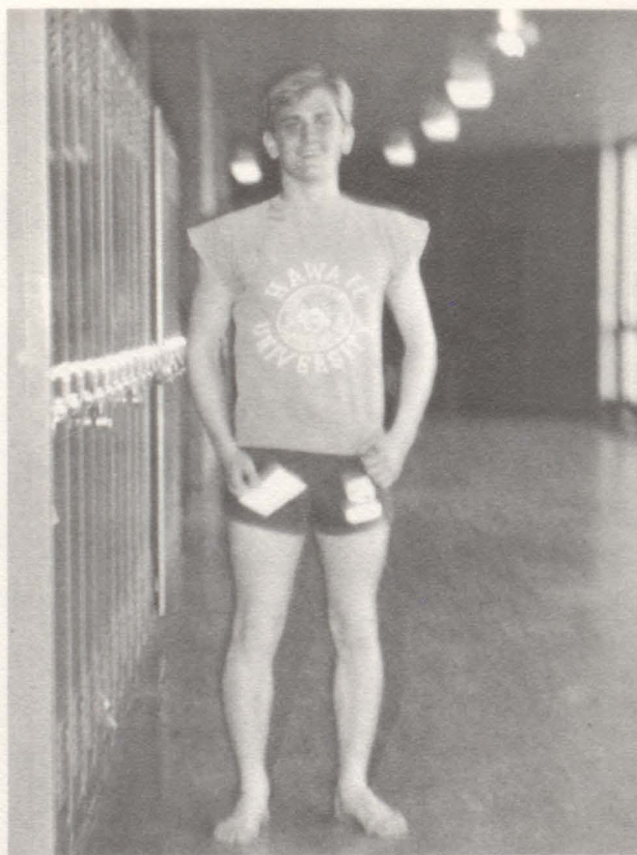

This modification of the dress code did not occur overnight. A Student-Faculty-Administration Committee reviewed the dress code and then introduced a proposal to the School Board which modified the dress code. The Board passed the proposal.

Despite the fact that they are the first Freshman Class and the alleged underdogs of RHS, the Class of 1973 overcame these difficulties to receive recognition as an industrious group. Freshmen took second place in the Homecoming float competition with the theme of "When Knights Were Bowled" and were proclaimed the third place winner in Spirit Week Competition.

The Class of 1973, under the leadership of Mr. Swift, fought hard for rights for their class. Their determination and industrious work won them the rights of participating in Homecoming and in the pep assemblies. Also, this year's Freshmen contributed members to many Varsity and JV sports. Starting early to earn money for graduation expense, the Freshmen sponsored a Halloween dance and many bake sales under the banner of navy and red, with a bright smile of anticipation for the events which shall occur in the coming years.

Mr. Swift discusses a proposal with class officers.

Although they missed their turn as the "underclassmen" for the year, the Sophomores still made a go at new discoveries and activities at RHS. With their sponsor, Mr. Dennis, the class participated in many money-making projects. They sponsored bake sales and bagel sales to soften the expenses of their Senior year. They also set a new precedent by winning the Homecoming skit competition with their delightful "Selections from Dr. Seuss's ABC's." Many hours of hard work went into this skit which was one of the best ever viewed by the Rochester student body. The Sophomores threw the traditional bonfire and afterwards held the after Homecoming game dance, "The Last Leap." After a gargantuan effort and to their great jubilation, the Class of 1972 won the spirit jug in one of the last pep assemblies, beating out the other classes in an electrifying and suspenseful spirit match. In the future, these falcons in green and white plan to proceed onward to "bigger and better things" in the life of RHS.

The Junior Class has spirit! The class of 1971, by winning the spirit jug in almost all of the pep assemblies, has definitely established a reputation for enthusiasm.

Their ebullient talents were shown especially during Homecoming skit - "The Night Before Homecoming;" their participation in Spirit Week; and their Homecoming float, "In the Heat of the Knight." The entire class participated in the Homecoming parade marching downtown behind their float. Loud voices greeted bystanders and assured everyone that Rochester would not suffer a letdown of spirit when the Seniors depart.

Juniors sponsored numerous successful bagel sales and took responsibility for an after game dance enjoyed by all. The Juniors' enthusiasm has been infectious throughout the year and RHS can be certain of vigorous doings from the kids behind the blue and gold. Success is sure to follow the Juniors!

Only a former Senior can recognize the symptoms of this year's Seniors – lethargy, jaded eyeballs, a knack for fooling around – yes, the symptoms of “senioritis.” But past accomplishments cannot be denied when one sees the senior restlessness.

As Sophomores, the Class of 1970 won first place for their float, “A Little Dab’ll Do Ya,” and took second place for their Homecoming skit.

The Class of 70’s Senior year showed more of this group’s vim and vigor. Seniors sponsored many bagel sales, two aftergame dances, and a Homecoming game chrysanthemum sale. Senior girls stamped all over the Junior girls in the Little Rose Bowl. The Senior Homecoming float, “For Whom the Bells Toll,” took first place and the Seniors managed to take the spirit jug from the unsuspecting Juniors.

Seniors will soon depart the hallowed halls of RHS, but their education and adventures will continue for they have “got a lot to live.”

President Debbie Burns conducts a meeting of the Senior Class Council.

Youth Is Living

Youth is living. Living means creating a life filled with an awareness of current, political, and social events, built on a fair and understanding attitude, and stored with memories of friends, places, and experiences. Life is an involvement of ourselves with classmates, teachers, and people we meet. We hold the secret of living, the bond that makes life worthwhile. We are filled with youth and enthusiasm, capable of enjoying and appreciating every movement, every sound, every breath, every moment. We've got a lot to live!

We are grateful to our staff for their assistance on the yearbook. A special thanks goes to Betty Weymouth, whose typing, organization, and consistent willingness made every deadline possible.

We also extend our thanks to Mr. Suprunowicz, who instilled in us a deep reverence for established deadlines; to Mr. Champagne, who agreeably gallivanted through halls and over hills to capture RHS on film; and to Miss Peggy Churchill, who amiably developed and redeveloped our pictures. An all encompassing thanks goes to those establishments, Modern Yearbook Company and Bill Williams Studio, who promoted our efforts.

Appreciation is given to Mrs. Feeley, who proof-read our literary material and co-sponsored our publication.

Our sincerest gratitude goes to Miss Ribbink, whose patience, understanding, unofficious attitude, and unlimited encouragement gave us the incentive to continue work, even when our problems seemed beyond solution.

Editing the Falcon has been comprised of cropping wheels, pica counts; U of D specials, gutters, the portable, DSR's, contracts, layouts, and the final result - a yearbook. Thanks for the memories.
