

The Stone Shop, Inc.

Felix Meier was a Bavarian stone mason who emigrated to Detroit in 1864. He worked on stone construction in Detroit and helped rebuild after the “Great Chicago Fire” of 1871. Felix returned to Detroit in 1875 continuing in his trade as a stone mason and in 1885 he started his first cut stone contracting business.

Felix was involved with many Detroit landmarks including the Hurlbut Memorial at the entrance to Waterworks Park in 1895.

The business was moved to its current location in Rochester Hills in 1956. This family owned business has operated as The Stone Shop Inc., and has focused on providing quality natural stone materials for commercial and residential projects throughout the Southeast Michigan region.

The company specializes in cut limestone for residential and commercial use.

Today, Felix’s great-grandchildren, Ken and Gary Vermander carry on the 5th generation family stone business as the owners of The Stone Shop, Inc.
