Another Spring

by Ami Burns

Another Spring
With the air so warm and grass so
green,
there's many a
spring wonder to be seen.

Most birds have flown back to
town,
while Mother Nature sports her newest gown.

Spring fever runs
high in the balmy
breeze,
whispering through
leafy trees.

Everyone revels in
the soft sunshine,
feeling free and
easy and just plain
fine.

Bad Weather? No Worries

We were concerned that the frigid temperatures and a six-inch snowfall would impact our Winter Used Book Sale. Fortunately, our hardy patrons turned out anyway for our huge collection of gently used books. The sale made a profit of $17,702, which makes it one of the best sales in recent years. Thank you to all our intrepid volunteers and customers for your dedication to reading.
